Kennedy Says They Must Cooperate or U. S. Will Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has appealed to management and labor to keep the national interest in mind in their disputes.

If they don't cooperate for the general good, the President warned significantly, an impatient federal government will take a greater hand in getting the two sides together.

Critical Phase

This was the implicit clear message in Kennedy's talk Tuesday to a group of top business executives and labor union chiefs. He had called them together to make them policy making partners in his administration.

We are going into a critical phase of our national life, Kennedy told the 21-man labor man-

President Proposes Drastic Changes in U.S. Foreign Aid

Includes $7.3 Billion in 5-Year Loan Authority, but No Estimate of Total Cost

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy asked Congress today for a drastically revamped long-term foreign aid program—the most sweeping overhaul since the Marshall Plan started in 1948.

It would include $7.3 billion in five-year loan authority to meet "the crucial decade of development" abroad.

The President put no over-all price tag on his program. But officials figured the five-year total would run several times the $7.3 billion proposed for economic development loans overseas.

For the coming year, the program would equal the $4 billion sought by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower for foreign aid.

In a special message to Congress, Kennedy said "It will both belit and benefit us to take this step boldly. For we are launching a decade of development on which will depend substantially the kind of world in which we and our children shall live."

U. S. Aid or Chaos

Kennedy said the 1960s offer a golden chance to put more than half of the peoples in underdeveloped lands on their own feet economically and the rest closer to the day when they no longer need aid.

But without this massive outside help from the United States and other free industrial countries, he said, resulting chaos abroad would cost even more and would be disastrous to our national security, harmful to our comparative prosperity and often a source of conflict.

The President hoped to overcome opposition in some congressional quarters both to the money

Castro's Foes Form Regime

Ready to Proclaim Provisional Rule in United States

NEW YORK (AP) — The two major anti-Castro Cuban groups in the United States are reported ready to proclaim a provisional Cuban government.

The move was seen as a prelude to the opening of a spring military offensive against the Castro regime, coordinated with attacks from inside and outside Cuba.

Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, who broke with Fidel Castro after serving briefly as the first premier of Castro's government in 1959, was said to be the man chosen to head the provisional regime.

Similar stories on the development were printed by the New York Herald Tribune, the New York Times and the Washington Post.

Announcement Awaited

Miro Cardona, 33-year-old lawyer, arrived here by plane last night from Miami to participate in the proclamation and accept appointment as president.

The official announcement will be made in New York — perhaps today.

The compromise announcement was reached in Miami by the Democratic Revolutionary Front and the revolutionary movement of the people whose coordinator is Manuel Ray, former minister of public works in Cuba.

Shriver Confirmed As Peace Corps Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today confirmed President Kennedy's nomination of Robert F. Shriver as director of the newly created Peace Corps after bipartisan praise of his selection.

The action was a quick vote to approve the move by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which head Shriver says he will pursue a go-slow approach in the program's early stages.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), the senate GOP leader, said Shriver will bring dedication to the job.

Given $10,000 For Return Of $250,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An unemployed Negro handyman who received $240,000 he found on the street is $10,000 richer today.

But his wife says, "I hope we never do find any more money."

Since finding the money two weeks ago, the man has been a hectic series of press conferences and telephone calls for Mr. and Mrs. Douglas William Johnson.

But Tuesday the Johnsons got a $10,000 check from Brink's Inc. the armored truck company that lost the $240,000.

Brink's originally offered Johnson a $500-a-week job and a college scholarship for his eldest son, Richard, 16. Johnson said he didn't want the job and that his son wants to work his way through the closing of one of the eight day cases presented by Scotland Yard's top secret agents after want to be fair to them too, Johnson said.

Brink's then decided on the $10,000 check. The Johnsons want to buy a new house.

Johnson said he has been home bonded with job offers, letters water warfare plans, a hidden phone calls since finding the plans of the atomic submarine Dreadnought to Cordell A. Toms.

Spy Thriller

Chief Justice Sir Hildebrand Parker summed up the trial today as a spy thriller of major importance to the state.

The main courtroom of the historic Old Bailey was packed for the closing of one of the eight day cases presented by Scotland Yard's top secret agents after want to be fair to them too, Johnson said.

The prosecution had charged Cohen and his mistress Ethel Elizabeth Goss, 46, gave details of the royal navy's under bonded with job offers, letters water warfare plans, a hidden phone calls since finding the plans of the atomic submarine Dreadnought to Cordell A. Toms.

Their World Blurred

NEW YORK (AP) — In three the world around her will be young Grandpa Specht had it. He was blind when he died. And now Mrs. Jennie Hull, 57, of Bradford, Pa., will open her eyes and she will know.

She will see as others see. Her two sisters — Mrs. Lot Schell, 51, of Garden City, N.Y., and Mrs. Reva Schneider, 44, of Miami, Fla. — will face the same outlook. They were to be operated on today. Mrs. Hull underwent surgery yesterday.

The sisters have corneal dystrophy, an affliction that has plagued four generations of the Charles Specht family.

We see the world blurred, Mr. Schell explained. It's as though there's a piece of gauze over our eyes. At home in Pennsylvania when we were

The sisters talked it over and Jennie asked to be the one. It was you, a funny feeling that you got something from a dead person, she said with some apprehension.

Well, it doesn't me, Jennie said. Mrs. Schell, "I feel it's something hard no longer need."

Hard to See Chart

Mrs. Hull was wheeled from their room to surgery and the other sisters sat together on one bed talking about their family.

I didn't even know how bad my eyes were until I got here," said Mrs. Schneider. This comes on you little by little and you get along somehow. I couldn't even see the eye chart with my right eye and I could just about make out the chart with my left.

Mrs. Hull was wheeled back into the room. Her left eye was covered with a surgical dressing.

"It didn't hurt a bit," she said. "I didn't feel a thing."

"I don't think it matters even if it hurts," said Mrs. Schell. "All I know is how wonderful it will be to see."

11 Kidnaped Men Released By Tribesmen

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Three Americans and eight other foreign oil prospectors kidnaped by Moroccan tribesmen were free today and their abductors were hailed as patriots.

King Hassan II, after announcing the release of the men, reversed Morocco's claim to the Spanish Sahara (Rio de Oro) south of the border and praised the tribesmen who seized the foreigners in the disputed region.

The 11 men's whereabouts had been a mystery and fears for their safety were growing when the young king, summoned American, British, French and Spanish diplomats to announce their release Tuesday night.

Captured By Tribesmen

One Spaniard disclosed the oil men were turned over to the Moroccan army the day after rifle-bearing tribesmen captured them about three miles south of the Moroccan border.

One of the Americans, James Warren, 26, of Littlefield, Tex., said they were well treated but all were exhausted. The other Americans were Dale Miller, 26, of Bakerfield, Calif., and John Cosgriff, 26, of Big Timber, Mont.

The five Spaniards, two Canadians and a Frenchman completed the party.

The group had set out from a camp a few miles south of the border March 11 on an oil prospecting expedition.

Fear Kidnap Killed Boy, 10, in Ontario

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (AP) — Police expressed fear today for the life of a 10-year-old boy missing 40 hours and believed kidnapped for $25,000.

Adding mystery to the case was the death of Warren Williamson, 35, described in a note as an intermediary. Police said he killed himself with a shotgun at his home last night after they had questioned him.

The boy, Thomas McNevin, left home Monday afternoon saying he was going to play hockey. Two hours later a man phoned the father, Donald McNevin.

Oneida School Open Again

Lay Teachers Take Over for Three Nuns Run Down by Car

ONEIDA — The 132 youngsters at the three-room Catholic school here went back to school after almost a week.

The vacation ended Tuesday when the Pulaski School District took over the parish school and provided teachers for 86 of the parish's pupils. The other children are going to four other public school districts.

The three nuns who made up the faculty of St. Joseph School were struck by a car in front of the parish house last Tuesday. Two of them, Sister Elizabeth, 55, and Sister Hubert, 59, died of injuries. The third, Sister Dismas, is confined at a Green Bay hospital. The Rev. Gerard Nolan, pastor, said the parish couldn't keep the school going without the nuns.

The decision to enlist the help of the public school system came when the Franciscan Sisters headquarters at Manitowoc said replacements couldn't be sent immediately. The parish is not able to afford lay teachers, Father Nolan said.

Richard Nixon in Tight Spot on Political Front

He Can't Run for Governor Without Promising to Run for Presidency

BY JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON — In the political community, it is now the fashion to comment, whether fully or gloatingly, on the difficult political plight of former Vice President Nixon. There is a lot of solid logic behind the fashion, too.

Nixon cannot easily run for the governorship of California in 1962 without solemnly promising not to run for the presidency in 1964. If he does not make the gubernatorial race he may later suffer by comparison with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller who should win re-election in a walk. He has no convenient rostrum. His title to party leadership has been flatly and even rather angrily rejected by the Republican leaders of Congress. And so it goes.

All these more or less familiar points are being rehearsed again because of Nixon's recent decision to associate himself with a Los Angeles law firm and his simultaneous hints that he does not want the California governorship.

Favors Study of Loans To Parochial Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming urged congress Tuesday to consider the possibility of federal loans to private and parochial schools.

The former Republican cabinet member added however that the issue should not be allowed to interfere with passage of a bill to aid public elementary and high schools.

Flemming told a house education subcommittee that any loan program for private schools should include a provision for a prompt supreme court test of its constitutionality.

It should also be based on an honest last time to get the president of America in Michigan Romney to become a candidate for the governorship. That effort would be repaid in full.

Arrested a short time later, he told police "I just wanted to be alone."

Anti-Cancer Drug May Cut Down Regrowth

An anti-cancer drug in the experimental stage until now may cut down the chances of breast cancer growing again after the tumor has been removed by surgery, two surgeons claimed in St. Petersburg, Fla.

The surgeons said a recommendation will be made at a scientific meeting later this month that the drug be used routinely through out the country in all breast cancer operations. The purpose of the drug is to kill stray cancer cells left behind after surgery and thus help prevent the breast cancer from recurring.

The drug called thioTEPA, manufactured by the Lederle Laboratories division of American Cyanamid Co.

ThioTEPA, as with all drugs effective against cancer cells, is highly poisonous to normal cells as well as malignant ones. Doctors usually depend on the fast-growing cancer cells to take up more of the drugs and do it faster than normal cells. Thus the cancer cells would die before too much damage was done to normal tissues.

No drug is yet known to cure cancer, though some have temporarily halted the growth of a tumor.

Three-Year Study
The drug's effectiveness in breast cancer surgery was indicated in a three-year federally-supported study on more than 800 patients in some 20 hospitals, according to Dr. George Moore of the Roswell Park Memorial Institute.

Fairly Common Form
Breast cancer, one of the more common forms of cancer, strikes about 63,000 persons annually and accounts for some 24,000 deaths. Many cases, particularly those caught in the early stages, can be cured by surgery.

A major problem, however, is that often the cancer spreads and not all the cancer cells can be removed. Several drugs have been used in a study for some time as possible "surgical adjuvants" which would be given after the operation to kill these stray cells and prevent them from re-establishing and growing into a new cancer.

Third and Fourth Graders who meet twice a week after school at St. Joseph School, Appleton, to learn Spanish presented a play, "El Pollito" (Chicken Little), in Spanish for parents and friends Saturday morning. From left are Joan Sommers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Sommers, as the tree; William Jolin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Jolin, as Pollito; and Roberta Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Young, as La Gallina, the hen. # Once a Bawdy City Built on Iron, Florence Now Is Without a Future

FLORENCE, Wis.—This little city, built on a long-dead hope for riches in iron, now ventures through its work-a-day world without that old hope. Its last iron mine closed down in 1935.

Even later, Florence was a vestigial iron city because many of its citizens labored in the mines of Crystal Falls only a few miles away. When the mine there closed down a few years ago, the workers of Florence simply sat back to await its re-opening. Many still wait.

Some took an occasional part-time job, some turned to part-time farming, but all waited hopefully for the re-opening which has never come.

In the early days, when Florence was a bold, had city it supported a fine total of 58 taverns. Now it has seven.

When it was a lush boom-town, it had lumbermen working in the forests and miners digging out the iron. With a population of some 2,000, it was rich and ribald for there was money in town—lots of it.

Today, the population of Florence has slipped away to only 1,251. Twenty years ago, its population was 1,333.

Florence County, Wisconsin's smallest, had a 1940 population of 4,177, but today that number has fallen away to 3,437—a drop of 740 in a time when other Wisconsin cities grew apace.

Timber Gone

The closing of the Florence County mines influenced the drop in population. And when the fine timber of the region was cleared away, this, too, affected employment and stimulated the exodus of its people.

Today Florence does not talk of the riches of the iron mines for it has evolved into simply a

Once Was Bawdy

Once the bawdiest of bawdy Wisconsin mining towns, Florence had been so named after Florence Hulise, wife of the man who became the community's first superintendent of mines. The mine was opened in 1880, two years before Florence County was created.

The railroads came into Florence in 1881—and on those tracks came many more mines: the Dawson, Badger, Buckeye, Ernst, Welch and the Davis, to name a few.

The ore of those days from the pocket mines of the region tested a respectable 50 to 60 per cent iron. Today the ore is considered too low grade to be marketable.

"There is no hope that our town will ever develop anything—except maybe in our dreams," said Chase O. Youngs, 77 year old pioneer in the community. "Now," he added, "there is nothing in our town except people."

Development Ranges

Youngs was given his first name in honor of the city's most distinguished by-product—Chase Osborne, who lived there for several years in the 1880's, and who during the summertime, vacationed in the community.

But there is little in Florence today to remind one of its years.

Florence that Osborne's enthusiasm for iron mining was developed. It was he who discovered the fabulously rich ranges which gave him the base for his fortune.

But there is little in Florence today to remind one of its years.

Its main street is called Central Avenue, not Iron Street. And high on a nearby hill, there is a stockpile of 300,000 tons of low grade ore and rock which is unsalable and which tests only about 30 percent iron. Nothing more, except unemployment, serves to remind of other days.

And you may dig some six inches below the level of Central Avenue and there you will find iron slag, red and forgotten, which once was the main road through

Special, Dangerous Problem Seen In Foreign Product Competition

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

WASHINGTON — Every week mail comes from some industry or some press agents dealing with the subject of imports. The concern is very profound. Certain American industries are convinced that they are being squeezed out of the American market by cheaper imported products. American workers are frightened.

Sokolsky

Before World War I, when a free market existed, it was possible to fight unfair competition. Today, when governments determine the wages, hours of work, taxes, indirectly the prices of raw materials and subsidize enterprises by various devices, the markets of the world are no longer free.

Local Paper Ads Backed

Soft Drink Firm Executive Extolls 'Must Ingredient'

Newspaper advertising at the local level, over local signature, is a "must" ingredient of any successful national advertising campaign, Philip B. Hinerfeld, vice president and director of advertising, Pepsi-Cola Co., told a bottlers association in Arlington, Va.

"In order for the total advertising dollar to work harder, faster and at peak efficiency, the so-called umbrella-type national advertising program must be supplemented by the strongest possible newspaper effort at the local level. Local newspaper advertising fills a specialized niche in the total marketing program."

"Local newspaper insertions, keyed to the national theme and appearing over local signature take advantage of the timeliness, excitement and power of the daily newspaper. They provide instant, flexibility, and place the selling message in closer proximity to the actual shopping trip. By doing this, they, in turn, make the point-of-purchase material at the final three feet of sale more effective," the Pepsi-Cola executive declared.

Follow - Through

"In advertising, the follow-through is collective and individual effort by local outlets, keyed directly to the same look, and sell of the basic national effort," Hinerfeld said.

Hinerfeld warned the group of the dangers of local distributive outlets "standing under the national umbrella and doing nothing more than 'just standing still'."

"Such thinking could not be fallacious," he said. "If you take national advertising for granted, without your own follow-through, the public is liable to take your product for granted, too. It is important that you keep continuously at the task of helping the public to remember your product in the marketplace when it votes its popularity through regular purchases."

Dr. Sabin Says Polio Vaccine Cost Too High

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dr. Albert B. Sabin, developer of a live virus vaccine against polio, says the Public Health Service has set a price tag 10 times too high on his product.

He said he based his assertion on information which accompanied President Kennedy's request to congress for $1 million with which to purchase three million doses of the immunizing virus. The stock - piled doses could be drawn upon without cost by states and communities threatened by polio outbreaks.

Attributing the cost estimate to the Public Health Service, Dr. Sabin said "they just picked that price right out of the air. No pharmaceutical company as yet has arrived at that price."

"One million dollars," he added, "should buy 30 million doses."

In Washington, a Public Health Service spokesman said there would be no comment upon Dr. Sabin's remarks.

Snowballing People Costs Youth $18

Two persons were fined for disorderly conduct by Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmieg Tuesday.

Larry M. Feistel, 18, 805 E. Newberry St., was fined $18.95 for snowballing citizens near Appleton High School March 14.

Marvin W. Santorius, 1190 E. Jardin St., paid $28.95 for creating a disturbance in the 800 block of N. Drew Street Saturday.

Kenneth V. Labensky, 25, Manitowoc, forfeited $25 for drunkenness. He created a disturbance at the home of his ex-wife in the 300 block of N. Oneida Street Sunday.

On the House

THOMAS, Okla. (AP) — A cafe here serves free coffee from 2 to 4 p.m. daily and the tab is picked up each day by a different group of business men.

and the danger to labor in a high wage country is that jobs will be wiped out. This is one cause for increased unemployment.

The storage battery manufacturers, who are in direct competition with Japanese, find that some Japanese batteries are sold at a lower price in the United States than in Japan.

The dry battery section of the National Electrical Manufacturers Association, consists of seven companies which employ 8,000 Americans and have an annual payroll of $55,000,000. This is not a very large number of workers, but they are widely scattered over the United States and their loss of employment would seriously affect many communities.

The transistorized radio set has grown increasingly popular in the United States. Young people carry transistor radios with them to sports games and even to musical events. The transistorized radio has become acceptable very rapidly. Having come into the market importantly in 1957, three years later, in 1960, the transistor portable radios sold against tube radios at the ratio of seven to one. Japanese manufacturers entered the American market immediately and can afford to underbid American manufacturers because of cheaper wages, lower taxes and government subsidies in Japan.

120 Different Types

According to the American industry, American manufacturers make about 120 different types of radio batteries, this constituting a complete line. Their publicity says:

However, three transistor types, Nos. 1015, 216 and 226, make up over 50 per cent of total radio battery sales. The Japanese export to the U. S. only the most popular types."

This basis for competition between American and Japanese radios is that the average American worker in this industry receives $2 an hour whereas a Japanese worker receives the equivalent of 30 cents an hour. Japanese No. 216 batteries cost in New York about 15 cents; American No. 216 batteries sell to distributors for about 70 cents. The argument that the American battery is superior and will last longer is not particularly pertinent as this is a price rather than a quality matter.

This is one instance of an American industry being pushed to the wall by foreign competition protected by political considerations. The United States is Japan's best market. It is to the military and political interests of the United States that Japan should be oriented our way. Japan's alternative is to become economically a producer for the Red China market. For Japan this would mean ultimate absorption in the Soviet Universal State, as Japan cannot stand alone. For the United States, the loss of Japan as a principal ally could be disastrous in Asia. The Japanese have to import not only raw materials but food. Their country being only about 20 per cent arable, they have no alternative but to manufacture for export and they must have a market where there is no political opposition to them.

The Dilemma

This then is the dilemma that faces both Japan and the United States. Japan's principal market is the United States, but everything that Japan exports to the United States in any quantity is manufactured in the United States. If we close the American market to Japanese manufacturers, we force the Japanese to go over to Red China; if we permit our market to be flooded by lower-priced Japanese goods, we throw American labor out of work.

This is a very difficult problem that cannot be solved by oratory or by wild statements. The pressure of American labor for protection is becoming increasingly great. Instead of the industrialists demanding protection, they solve problem by moving their plants abroad where wages and taxes are low. They, in effect, export jobs. On the other hand, the labor unions are beginning to demand protection. The pressure can become a major political issue and therefore requires more than casual thought.

He was arrested by Oshkosh police after an accident at 4:30 p.m. Monday on Kansas Street. His car and that of Daniel M. Paulus, 1743 Knapp St., Oshkosh, were involved.

Binder's license had been suspended Feb. 23 by the state motor vehicle department for 30 days.

Judge Cane warned Binder the charges bring revocation for 18 months.

Twice Daily Mail Deliveries Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen have suggested that Postmaster General J. Edward Day can forget about restoring a second daily delivery to residential areas.

"I have not received a single letter protesting this policy in seven or eight years," said Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La.

"I have heard practically no complaints... in recent years," said Rep. J. Vaughan Gary, D-Va., chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee hearing the post office budget request.

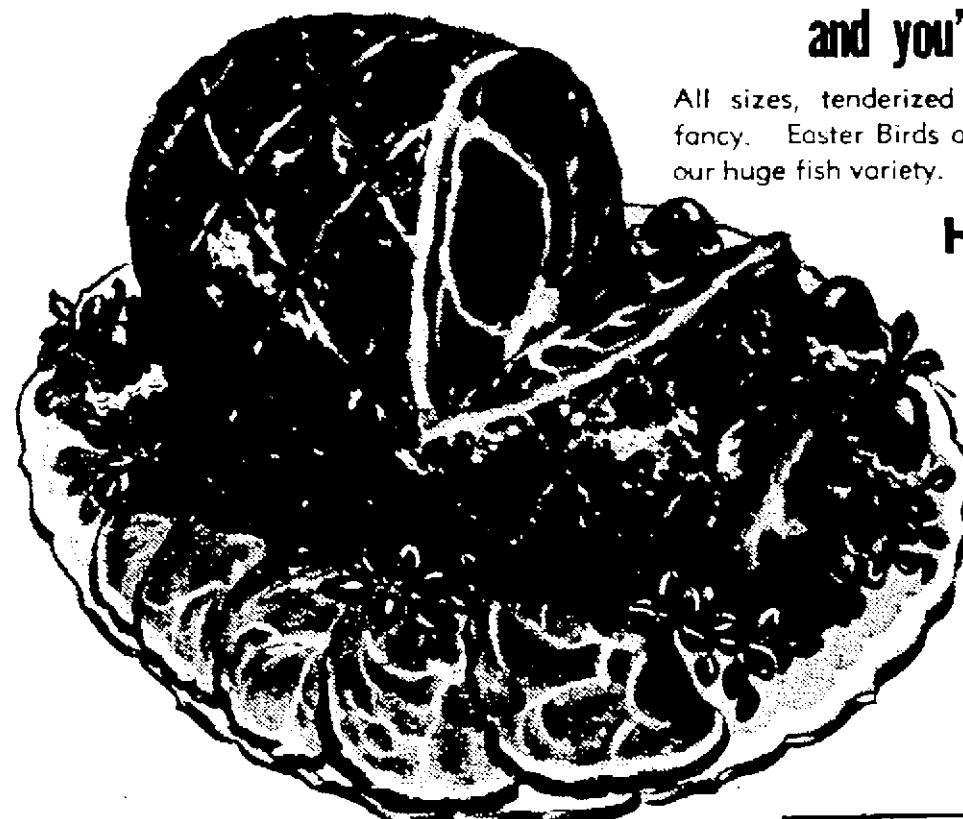

Gary noted that the subcommittee recommended the reduction in residential service 10 years ago and savings since then may amount to $1-billion. Transcripts of the closed door hearing held last month were made public yesterday.

Johnson Invitation Sign of New Frontier

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The formal invitation from the Democratic state organization to Vice President Lyndon Johnson to come to Wisconsin for a political speech is the most revealing local illustration of the politics of the Democratic national regime's "New Frontier" to date.

To say that the orthodox Wisconsin liberals are not fond of Johnson is to put it mildly.

That Johnson would not have had such an invitation two years ago, or even a year ago, is generally known.

Two years ago Wisconsin Senator Proxmire was making a national reputation by heckling and attacking the leadership of Johnson in the Democratic majority caucus in the U.S. Senate.

Three years ago Gaylord Nelson, then a state Senator, was building himself as a candidate for governor with a scathing attack upon Johnson as the kind of Democrat the liberal Democratic party didn't want.

Furious Protest

Last summer there were furious protests by some Wisconsin delegates at the Democratic national convention when Johnson was nominated by acclamation for the vice presidency on the Democratic ticket, after John F. Kennedy had decided he wanted him.

But today Patrick J. Lucy, commander of the state Democratic party machine, has announced that he wants Johnson as the chief attraction at the principal Democratic state party money-raising event of the year, the $25 a plate dinner planned for Milwaukee in June.

Today Johnson is vice president, rather than a senator from the conservative state of Texas. His changed circumstances may account for the invitation to address the organized political liberals of Wisconsin.

But the bid also shows that Lucy intends to run the party organization without deference to the sensibilities of some of its Shaw's "Saint Joan," which will open Thursday night in Penning's Auditorium on the campus.

Barbara Kapp heads a cast of 34 students in the play directed by the Rev. Anselm Keefe, O. Praem. A coincidence of casting is that St. Norbert junior Robert Beauchamp plays the role of Richard de Beauchamp, better known as the Earl of Warwick, who led the charge at Rouen and took Joan prisoner there.

Performances are set for 8:15 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 2:15 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Based on Fact

There have been other plays written about the story of Joan of Arc, notably Jean Anouilh's "The Lark," but Shaw's generally is conceded to be the one best based on historical fact. When "Saint Joan" was published in 1924, the Irish playwright included a highly detailed preface dealing with all aspects of the story of the peasant girl who led France to victory over the English in the 15th century.

Shaw's version is a chronicle play in six scenes with an epilogue in which Joan, who has been burned at the stake for heresy by the English, returns to visit Charles VI, formerly the dauphin.

The play's most recent Broadway production featured Sibban McKenna as Joan and enjoyed a long run. Her characterization was hailed by critics as the best the play has ever known.

'Faust' Film Both Liked, Disliked

BY LILLIAN MACKESY

As a movie, "Faust and the Devil," at the Appleton Theater last night was a dramatic success. But as an opera presentation, it lacked quality for those theatergoers who know their opera.

In a picturesque setting, the age-old Goethe story of the devil charming the souls of men away from the good life unfolded in the framework of Gounod's opera about Dr. Faustus and the beautiful maiden Marguerite. Italo Tajo's portrayal of the devil had charm, power and humor. This bass-baritone showed his acting ability throughout the drama and he proved his singing fame in the renowned laughing song as the young lovers succumb to his wicked scheming.

Dramatic Ending
The role of the fair Marguerite also was enacted beautifully. There were those who became misty eyed when she died in the last, dramatic scene of the play that thwarted the devil in his claims upon her. This scene was a photographic gem with its shaft of heavenly light playing upon the burning heroine at the stake.

Several opera fans voiced disappointment of the production, calling it a mediocre movie interpretation of the real thing. Several of the favorite songs had been left out, notably the aria of Siebel, the rejected lover, as he sings under Marguerite's window with his bouquet of field flowers and Valentine's goodbye song to his sister as he leaves for war. Songs which were highlights of the movie included Marguerite's lovely jewel aria, the love duets between young Faust and the maiden and the opera's famous and stirring Soldier's Chorus.

Along in 2-Year Field Vocational Schools Ask to Award Degrees

MADISON — The vocational schools of Wisconsin want to offer degrees.

A trio of state senators has offered in the legislature a bill to authorize the granting by such schools of what would be called "associate degrees" covering work in the developing two-year technical courses offered in the localities.

The degrees would be offered "in the appropriate areas designated" by the state board of vocational education at Madison, according to the measure sponsored by Sen. A. A. Laun, of Kiel, a former member of the state board, and two other senators.

Such courses would be evaluated by the state office and would be "designed to prepare the student for entrance into technical level occupations."

The right to grant degrees is now confined to four-year institutions of higher learning.

Post-high school training courses in the local vocational schools have been growing in number and enrollment, and have been hailed as one of the significant recent developments in public education in the state.

Walden Pond Will be Saved, Judge Rules

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Inroads on the woodland beauty of Concord's Walden Pond have been ordered halted and efforts will be made to restore the original sylvan charm which inspired literary giants Emerson and Thoreau.

This was insured yesterday by Superior Court Judge David A. Rose in permanently enjoining Middlesex County commissioners from further violating deeds under which the region was given the state by heirs of the "Sage of Concord," Emerson.

Judge Rose also directed steps to reduce as far as possible damage done by a bulldozer assigned in 1958 to gouge out an artificial bathing beach, parking area and an access road.

The decree marked victory after a bitter fight for a "Save Walden Committee."

Way With Accessories

The smartest lady in the East-er parade will wear a costume of many colors. For the freshest approach to fashion is the "com- pose look," multiple combinations of pastels or neutrals or striking blues. Any such explosion of color, of course, must be thoughtfully worked out. As presented at a distinguished New York fashion show, the following examples demonstrate really lovely mix- tures of clothing and accessory shades. A leaf green suit, hat and hand- bag, in color, shoes of leaf green, mauve pink and aqua, stockings with a more hint of green.

Mrs. R. F. Gregory selects some slides on methods of home protection to show to the group. With her are Mrs. Henry Hackbarth and son, David, and Mrs. Tom Thompson and son, Billy. At right, Mrs. Joseph Dercks, Mrs. Howard Preston, Mrs. Harold Carlson and Mrs. Frank Hibbard read instructions on a tin of multi-purpose food prepared especially for home bomb shelters.

Civil Defense 'Graduates' Encourage Others To Also Learn Methods of Protection, Safety

The hows, whys and wherefores of protecting oneself and family in case of enemy attack were learned by a group of 13 Appleton women who recently completed a 10-hour course in Civil Defense. The women held 2-hour sessions at each other's homes. Since "graduation," three of them have continued their studies in first aid classes. When this is completed a course in home nursing may be undertaken.

Mrs. Henry Hackbarth, who lives at 1118 W. Parkway Blvd., more or less got the ball rolling after hearing Lee Penney, Outagamie County and Appleton Civil Defense director, discuss civil defense at a PTA meeting. She related her information, interests and feelings on would you allow an outsider to come in. Mrs. Hackbarth noted that a selfish attitude might be developed here and one that no one would know until the moment. The fear of panic and looting is great. However, more police are being trained in this detail.

The class added one piece of equipment to the already long list of items necessary in a bomb shelter — a gun. "Placing a means of protection in the shelter was neglected," Mrs. Hackbarth stated.

This is what one group of women did — women who were interested and concerned about their families' protection.

The Civil Defense office located in Outagamie County Courthouse has books and pamphlets available telling what to do in case of enemy attack, how to build bomb shelters and how to stock them.

Fallout Concern

The main thing with which to be concerned is fallout, tiny pieces of radioactive dust and debris. When a hydrogen bomb is exploded close to the ground, thousands of tons of these tiny particles are sucked upward into the air forming the mushroom cloud.

Some of this matter spills out of the cloud and is carried by the wind for many miles, eventually settling on the earth. This is called fallout and continues giving off radioactivity until it decays.

Normal amounts of it are not dangerous; however, if you are exposed to much of it long enough, you can become seriously ill. Thus, a mass of material between you and the particles is needed for protection.

Be prepared is the byword in this time and situation. Take time out now to prepare an adequate shelter for you and your family. Your shelter area should have space, food and water and equipment.

You could get along for quite awhile without food, if necessary, but you must have safe water to drink. Store enough drinking water for your family right now. This includes at least seven gallons of water or other fluids for each member of the family.

this subject to her neighborhood book club and soon she and club members organized the workshop. Other friends were enlisted to join.

Saw Slides

Slides, accompanied by recordings, aided the women in studying what to do in case of emergency. One meeting was held at Outagamie County Courthouse where Penney addressed the class, husbands and guests.

The morning meetings at homes found the students' children also in the audience. "We even combatted measles," Mrs. Hackbarth mentioned.

The class learned what to put in a shelter and became very aware of what was needed. Mrs. Hackbarth noted that this knowledge is essential for everyone. "We didn't know anything before. We ourselves can help by encouraging other people to also look into this matter," she added.

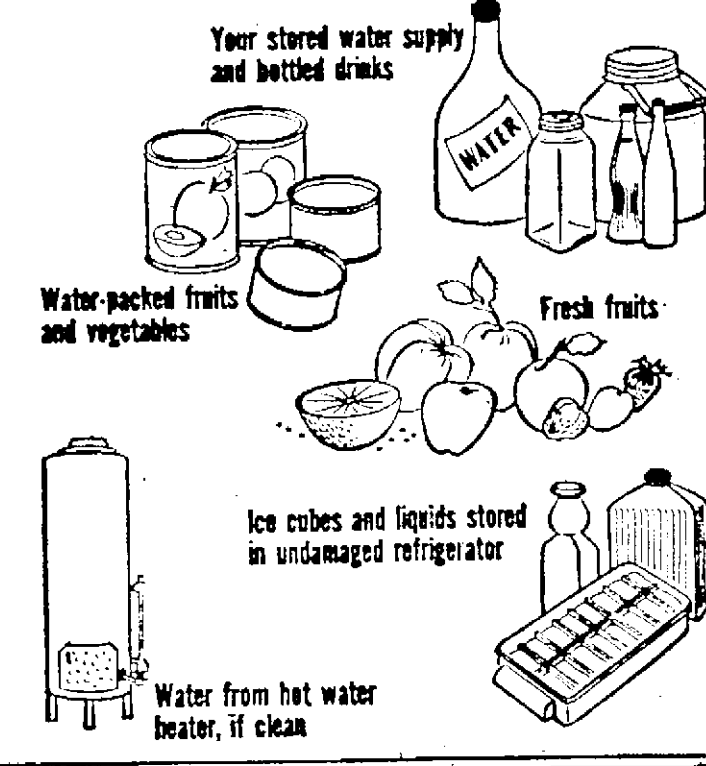

The women studied signals, investigated their own basements and those of classmates, discovered how to turn off water in the house and what to do with the furnace in case of emergency. The type of food to store in a shelter and how to get water into the home were also topics under discussion.

School Problem

One thing that seemed to arouse great concern was the care of children in school in case of emergency — should they be sent home or kept at school. The group learned that this decision rests with the superintendent of schools — the answer to which would be relayed to parents via radio.

The question of police protection was another subject under fire. In case you had a shelter, planned for your family with just enough to keep them supplied for a two-week period,

SOURCES OF LIQUIDS

Dust Problem

Contents of cans, jars, cartons and other food packages that have not been broken or punctured are perfectly safe to eat after an attack. Dust on cooking utensils, however, is another problem which cannot be made harmless by boiling.

Keep a two-week food supply in your home and maintain it continuously. Cans and jars in sizes which will meet family needs for only one meal are best for meat, poultry, fish, vegetables, fruit, evaporated milk and other foods which deteriorate rapidly. This also eliminates the problem of leftovers.

A well-balanced emergency supply of food includes fruits and juices, vegetables, soups, milk, instantaneous drinks, canned meat and fish, baby food, raisins and chocolate, packaged cereals and dried foods.

Shelter Supplies

Other shelter supplies are blankets, warm clothes for cold weather, pliers or a wrench, heavy gloves, paper cups and plates, eating utensils, extra bulbs and batteries for your flashlight and portable radio, a supply of old newspapers, toilet tissues, invalid supplies and escape tools. Also, spare washcloths, towels, soap, matches, can opener, compact cooking unit, covered pail or can for human waste and a supply of paper sacks for making soil bags.

When Mrs. Hackbarth and her classmates were enrolled in the home preparedness workshop, they did much outside reading pertinent to the subject under study. These books and others may be obtained from Mr. Penney in the courthouse.

He has also prepared group guide kits and has urged clubs to take advantage of these for instructing members in the proper techniques of home and family protection.

Problem Window in a Stairwell

There's always a window problem, if not a half-dozen of them, in old homes of the style often chosen today for remodeling. Several recent letters ask what can be done about oddly located windows that can't be done away with or curtained, among them a letter from Mrs. E. V., who is baffled by a window in a stairwell. Every bit of light from it is needed, and reaching it is a major project. The sketch began from open view onto our garden. If her diagram suggests a wire screening disguise, which doesn't interfere with light and won't need frequent care.

There's no avoiding ladder trips at the start, Mrs. V., to take the measurements just inside the window frame and then to install a panel to fit into it. Parallel lines are too narrow now. The on old windows are never exact-pattern is in turquoise, olive, brown and black on a beige ground to match the walls. If I can use plain color, would you approve of turquoise?"

Since the large one is most probably the stand-out window in the room, the pattern would be best for the draperies there. Perhaps the patterned draperies can be combined to cover it. Then plain colored draperies can be made for the other windows, preferably in the beige of the patterned draperies' background.

Mrs. R. P. "Our kitchen is long, narrow and bright. Plastic on the counters is bittersweet, and the floor alternates bittersweet tiles with gray-white tiles flecked with orange. The cabinets are in natural wood finish appliances are white and the chrome furniture is pearl gray. What color do you suggest to change the white walls, and what colors for curtains, rugs and new upholstery covers for chairs? Not gray, please."

Since the bittersweet and white are set in the scheme, you have pre-determined contrast that is attractive but strong. It is better to use a color close to the bittersweet than to introduce a sharp contrast. The best choice is light medium yellow with a tinge of orange for the walls and chairs. Curtains could be white or yellow, and rugs will be most effective in a deeper shade of the bittersweet.

More Effective Aid Planned for Laos

Believe Kennedy's Plan Would Include Training for Country's Forces by U. S.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is reported planning to give more effective military assistance to the pro-Western government of Laos unless the Soviet Union speedily agrees to a prompt diplomatic solution of the Laotian crisis.

While officials were close-mouthed about the President's decision today, it was believed that initial steps for increased aid would embrace training of the hard-pressed government forces by U.S. military men and probably an increase in firepower through providing more modern types of conventional weapons.

District of Columbia May Get Vote Right

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 23rd Amendment, granting the presidential vote to citizens of the District of Columbia, may become part of the Constitution within a week or 10 days.

This was the prediction today of a citizens' committee whose promotion work so far has helped to get 35 state ratifications.

35 States Have Given Ratification To 23rd Amendment

Approval by only three more states is needed to get the necessary three-fourths of the states for the amendment which Congress submitted last June 16.

Citizens' committee officials said the last three approvals could come within 10 days from among Ohio, Kansas, New Hampshire, and Rhode Island.

See Warning In Stevenson's Sharp Reply

Adlai Condemns Soviet Attack On Congo Actions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson's sharp condemnation of the new Soviet attack on the U.N. Congo operation was seen today as a warning that the Kennedy administration won't shrink from a cold war slugging match in the General Assembly.

Any hopes that world tensions might be eased by avoiding debate on cold war issues in the assembly faded Tuesday when Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko renewed the Soviet attack on Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and U.N. actions in the Congo.

Biting Attack

"We had hoped at least that the Russians would suspend the cold war for a while," Henry Ford Cooper of Liberia told a reporter, "but Gromyko's biting attack on Hammarskjold and the United Nations opened it all up again."

Speaking at the beginning of a new assembly debate on the Congo, Gromyko once again accused Hammarskjold of organizing the murder of Patrice Lumumba, demanded the secretary-general's replacement by a three-man directorate, and called for an end to the U.N. Congo operation within a month.

Non-Communist delegates — especially from Africa and Asia — were openly impressed with Stevenson's immediate reply. He said Gromyko spoke "in the worst and most destructive traditions of the cold war."

Industrial Unit's Budget Slashed

MADISON (AP) — A $58,000 budget cut for the State Industrial Commission was recommended Tuesday by the Republican-controlled joint finance committee.

Slashed from the $2.4 million appropriation Gov. Gaylord Nelson approved for the commission in 1961-62 would be $43,000 in general operational funds. The commission's fair employment practices division also would lose two of its six employees, reducing the division's payroll by $15,000.

Sen. William Draheim, R-Neenah, committee co-chairman, opposed the reduction in staff. "I don't think this will be well received by the state," he told his fellow lawmakers.

Both recommendations were proposed by Assemblyman Milford Kintz, R-Richland Center. Reductions in the commission's general budget appropriation would result in the elimination of three new positions asked.

get three electoral votes, the minimum number allowed the least populous states of Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, Nevada, Vermont, and Wyoming.

The District will have no representation in Congress. Nor will the new amendment change its local form of government. The city is administered by three commissioners appointed by the President. Its appropriations and laws are made by Congress.

Oklahoma Tuesday became the 35th state to approve the 23rd Amendment.

Car-Train Accident Puts State Toll at 169

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a woman in a car and train accident has raised Wisconsin's 1961 highway toll to 169, compared with 138 on this same day a year ago.

Mrs. Fred H. King, 42, Eau Claire, was killed Tuesday night paddy wagoned. Officers may do when her automobile and a freight train collided at a crossing north of west of Eau Claire. She was alone in the car.

Doctor Reports Novel Concept of Cause for Some Cancer Cases

Triggering of Chemical Bomb May Result in Tumor Formation

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Evidence of a possible cancer-producing chemical bomb in all humans—happily a dud in most cases—was reported today by scientists.

Dr. Antonio Rottino of St. Vincent's Hospital told about it in suggesting a novel concept of the cause of at least some cancers in man.

They may be due, he said, to the sudden triggering into haywire activity of a body chemical which ordinarily serves a useful purpose in the maintenance of life.

Blood Serum

Addressing a seminar for science writers sponsored by the American Cancer Society, Dr. Rottino said he had obtained from the blood serum of both normal and cancerous people and from certain animal and plant tissues, a substance he calls "tumor-inducing complex" or "TIC" for short.

This "TIC," when injected into certain kinds of mice or into larval forms of the drosophila fruit fly, induced formation of tumors. The researcher said he and colleagues also had found, in association with "TIC," certain other components—one of which enhances its activity, while the other suppresses it.

It might well be, he said, that "TIC" is ordinarily kept in a well-behaved and productive state by the balanced activity of these latter two factors.

But a disturbance in either direction might well provide the triggering mechanism for an explosion of "TIC," he said.

Rottino said the research was done in cooperation with scientists of New York University and California Institute of Technology.

He said the concept might well tie in with the theory of some scientists that some forms of cancer at least are due to viruses because, he declared, "TIC may, in fact, be a virus."

Well, Look Now—Police to Be Smocked

CHICAGO (AP)—Supt. O. W. Wilson, the one-time college dean brought in to give the Chicago police department a new look, plans just that this week. Some of the boys in blue will be issued smocks—and tan smocks, at that.

Wilson announced Tuesday he plans to place the garments in Mrs. Fred H. King, 42, Eau Claire, was killed Tuesday night paddy wagoned. Officers may do when her automobile and a freight train collided at a crossing north of west of Eau Claire. She was alone in the car.

Finch Trial Nearing End

Defendants Equally Guilty or Innocent, States Prosecutor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The prosecutor in the murder trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff told the jury: "If he is guilty, she is guilty. And if he is innocent, she is innocent. You can't divide them."

Dr. Finch, 43, and Miss Tregoff, the doctor's 24-year-old sweetheart, are accused of murder and conspiracy in the death of his wife, Barbara Jean.

Prosecutor Clifford Crail, in his closing argument yesterday, charged that if Dr. Finch hadn't intended that his wife die of a bullet wound July 18, 1959, he would have done all a physician could to save her.

Instead, Crail said, the doctor abandoned the dying woman and fled to the arms of his red-haired paramour and co-defendant.

The case is expected to go to the jury of nine men and three women today or tomorrow. The trial has been in progress for more than two months. Two previous ones ended in deadlocked juries.

Quits Church Council

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — One of South Africa's three largest Dutch Reformed churches said Tuesday night it is withdrawing from the World Council of Churches. Officials of the Nederduits Hervormde Kerk said the action was taken because of council condemnation of South Africa's racial segregation policy. The church has more than 200,000 members.

In his closing statement, Gordon said: "I want to be elected to the Supreme Court, but not so badly that I would voluntarily enter upon a course of vilifications such as my opponent has chosen. He is wrong. I will now endeavor to devote the balance of this campaign to discussing more appropriate subjects. I do not intend to respond further to this type of campaigning."

to a particular party, a particular class or vested interest," Honeck said.

Gordon replied, "Mr. Honeck has implied that I am biased and prejudiced in favor of labor by reason of that group's endorsement of my candidacy. In the past few years," he said a number of area judges "have been elected with labor's express endorsement. On our Supreme Court, Justice Thomas E. Fairchild and Justice George Curries have had this same endorsement. Would Mr. Honeck suggest they are dupes of labor?"

Honeck said that if he is elected he will owe no debts to anyone. "The people of Wisconsin deserve a pledge from all candidates who aspire to our highest court that they are now and will remain free from any and all obligations

Daughters Hover Over Unconscious Parents

Pair Critically Hurt in Separate Mishaps, Texas City Rallies to Aid

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP)—Critically injured in separate automobile accidents, Carl Tume, 44, and his wife, 44, for weeks have been unconscious in the same room of a Temple hospital.

Two daughters of the popular couple hover nearby constantly, aware that their parents' physician, Dr. James Pettigrew, expects no immediate improvement in their condition.

The girls, Janet, 18, and Kay, 20, have dropped out of college to be with their parents. Neither Tume nor his wife have shown improvement since they lapsed into unconsciousness. The community night supervisor of nurses at Scott and White Hospital for several years.

Start Fund Drive

The Communications Workers of America, a union with which the family had no connections, started a fund drive for the children, without income since their parents were hospitalized.

Local cafes began donating coffee sales to the family. Railroad employees joined in the drive. So did King's Daughters Hospital. After 10 days, there was $1,600 for Kay, Janet and Carl Jr. "It's Texas State in Denton. Janet dropped out of Temple Junior College. Both wanted to be near CWA President Truett Tomlinson.

HOME DIAGNOSIS OF INDIGESTION MOST OFTEN WRONG

Any and every ache and ill which befalls that all-inclusive territory usually called the stomach (but which is really the abdomen) is commonly believed to come from the stomach. It is fortunate for us that true indigestion is not as common as it is thought to be.

People often eat a meal in haste or when under nervous strain and after the meal they notice it "repeats"; that is a sour taste is detected in the mouth. They therefore come to the conclusion that they have an "acid stomach," when in reality it is merely regurgitation of the acid normally found in the stomach. The common home-made diagnosis of this condition is indigestion.

True indigestion results from nerve interference in the spine. Merely changing habits of eating will not alter this condition. Chiropractic adjustments are needed to remove this deeper seated cause.

REPEATING MARRIAGE VOWS

I eloped when I was 15 and after living together for 13 years, we want to be married all over again.

We lied about our ages when we married and our vows didn't mean anything to us as we were too young to know even what love meant. We have had a rough time of it in spots. After several split ups and a filing for divorce which was dropped, we have become happier than ever. We have two wonderful children.

Davis

Would it be in good taste to have another marriage ceremony?

Louise Davis Answers:

Your experience is the heart-warming kind that restores faith. It shows what a couple of imma-ture, mixed-up kids can do if they decide to get their feet on the ground and grow up together with a normal sense of values. More power to you both. Although you had three strikes against you in the beginning with too early a marriage, you two made a home run. I'm sure that your marriage will continue to be happy and that you will be able to surmount obstacles with maturity and wis-dom should they come your way. I suggest that before you go any further in your plans that you and your husband visit your clergy-man and tell him what you have told me. If it is agreed that you repeat your marriage vows in a religious ceremony, I suggest that you carry out your plans with the utmost simplicity with only the immediate family present. You wouldn't want any of the trim-mings of a regular wedding.

Man Should Turn Around, Run Before Old Gal Catches Him

ANN LANDERS

AR ANN LANDERS: I am never married but have had many romances. I've dated a man who is but she didn't look at her first and died. She has been divorced three times. She's smart with finances with her settlement money bought three different businesses. They are all doing well. I run one of her businesses, which is how we met. Kitty tells everyone she's going to marry me or die in the attempt. My brothers tell me I'd be insane to marry a woman with her record, but they don't understand her. She is really a sweet kid, and quite helpless. You are a pretty sensible dame. Do you have any advice for me? — TY

Dear Ty: This woman sounds about as helpless as A.T. & T. I agree with your brothers that a three-time loser is a poor marriage risk. And the 10 years difference in your age could be a real problem in 10 years — or sooner. From here you get a veto.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The problem concerns our adult son who is highly intelligent and has an excellent family background. He has been going steady for three years with a young lady who has neither intelligence nor family background. He cannot decide if he wants to marry her. Our problem is this: If we continue to extend our warm hospitality (he brings her to dinner often) and then decides to drop her, she will feel that we gave her false hope. If we stop having her over, and she later becomes our daughter-in-law, she will feel that we were against her. Also, she did not graduate from high school and is virtually illiterate. Her thank-you letter for a Christmas gift had 26 mistakes. We'd like her to hire a tutor and learn to speak and write correctly. Do we have the right to ask her to do so? — D.L.W.

Dear D.L.W.: Your home should be open to any young woman your son wishes to invite — provided she behaves herself. She comes at his invitation, so you are not giving her "false hope."

If it's not your place to encourage her to educate herself under any circumstances. During courtship young people have a peculiar deafness. After marriage the hearing suddenly improves. This is their problem, however, not yours.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a boy 16 who needs your help. My older brother taught me how to drive and I am an excellent driver. I passed the test and got my driver's license three weeks ago. The trouble is, my dad won't let me have the car. He says I am too young.

If the law says I am old enough and I earned my license isn't that enough? We had a long talk and he claims my mother is a nervous wreck when she knows I have the car. Is this fair to me? Please answer in the paper so they can see it. — S.O.S.

Dear S.O.S.: This is for your father. Please show it to him: Dear Dad: You can't raise your son under a glass bell. This is the machine age in every sense of the word. A boy who has earned his license should have the car a few hours every week. Let him take the family for a ride. When his mother sees that he is a careful driver she will be less nervous. If he gets a ticket or abuses time privileges then you have the right to forbid him to use the car.

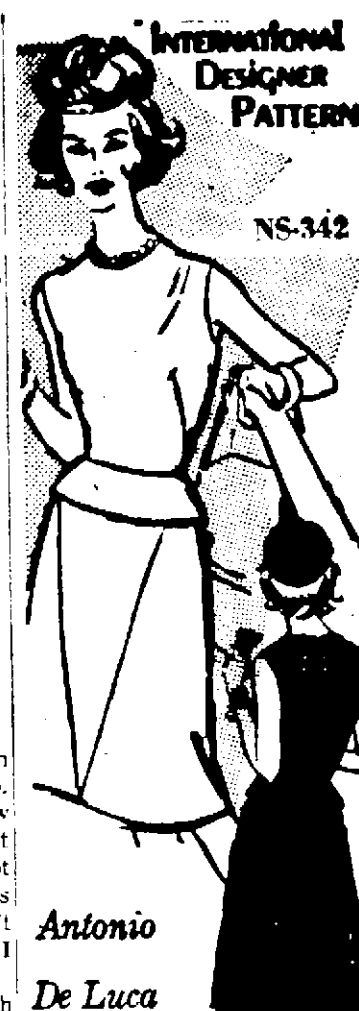

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1961)

Speaker Discusses Pre-War Germany At BPW Dinner

The Rev. Mrs. Arthur Snow, "Third Reich." She prefaced her review with impressions she received during a trip to Germany during 1937. She noted that even though tourists were still welcome in Germany then, there was an atmosphere of tenseness that gripped the country. She and her husband felt as if they were constantly watched.

Different Image

The image of Hitler presented to the German people at that time was far different from that given abroad. In his own country he was presented as a kind and benevolent protector. The psychology of his leadership had already penetrated the minds of the masses, the speaker noted.

In addition, there was a sense of pressure, evident in the attitude of a man who offered to guide them, after warning that he might have to disappear without notice. He was, he explained, a Jew. Anti-American feelings were becoming open in 1937.

Many Were Kind

It was still apparent, the Rev. Mrs. Snow stated, that there were many honest, good and trustworthy people who were willing to take risks to be kind.

Mr. Shirer's book, she concluded, made it possible to understand how the German people lost their freedom without realizing

The speaker reviewed William L. Shirer's "Rise and Fall of the

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms. These tiny parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. My parakeet was exposed to aspergillosis some time ago. He is now suffering from a chronic respiratory condition. Could it be aspergillosis and if so, how can I treat it? H. Homer, Riverside, Calif.

A. Aspergillosis is a chronic respiratory disease of birds due to a fungus contracted from other birds or mouldy bedding or food. It is not easy to diagnose in the live bird. As this disease may be transmitted to human beings, it is essential that any bird with chronic respiratory disease see a licensed veterinarian at once. Delay may endanger your family's well being. Up to this time, aspergillosis has been extremely difficult to treat as it is resistant to antibiotics. If and when internaly taken anti-fungus drugs are successfully developed, the outlook may change.

Our Children Youngsters' Associations Valuable; Need Support

BY ANGELO PATRI

As soon as children are able to service-trained and they, with our Scouts, form a firm core of intelligent, active, forward-looking citizens on whom the nation can depend in any crisis.

Religious Groups

Along with these are the religious groups that the churches and synagogues initiate and nourish. Again, there are no delinquents in these groups, but a source of great strength in their communities and their country.

I am stressing the importance of these associations because they need the enthusiastic support of parents and neighbors wherever they are functioning. Parents owe them this, and they should show their interest in them by showing it to their children, asking about their activities, attending meetings when invited, lending a hand when opportunity offers. To do less is to be ungrateful to a group of devoted men and women.

The Ailing House Removal of Fruit Stains From Sink

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

FRUIT-STAINED PORCELAIN SINK

Q: What can be used to remove fruit stains from a white porcelain kitchen sink? These were caused by fruit peelings left in the sink preparatory to putting them through the food waste disposal unit. Ordinary household bleach does not remove them.

HOUSE FOR ELDERLY

Q: Recently we read about a house especially designed for elderly people. I plan to retire shortly, and build such a home. Where can we get information about this type of house?

A: Your local lumber or building supplies dealer may have this type of information. Or write to Douglas Fir Plywood Assn., 1119 A. Street, Tacoma 2, Wash.

REFINISHING DOOR

Q: Could you please repeat the item about how to refinish a door?

A: After you have removed the present paint down to bare wood (be sure to follow directions on label of paint remover carefully), sand the surface smooth and wipe off all dust. If this is an inside door, two coats of pure, fresh white shellac (thinned half-and-half with denatured alcohol), can be applied, or two thin coats of water-clean varnish. If this is an outside door, apply two coats of good quality spar varnish. Be sure to allow ample time between coats for thorough drying of preceding coating.

Leave a Suit if Hopeless

It's a fine idea to lead a long suit against a no trump contract; you hope to set up your suit and run it against declarer. If you run into a roadblock, however, keep flexible enough to change your mind and switch to another suit.

West opened the three of diamonds in the hope that his high cards in spades and hearts would give him the lead often enough to develop his long suit. A reasonable idea, but it didn't work out.

Declarer played the low diamond from dummy, and East finessed the jack. South won with the king and promptly led a spade toward dummy's king.

At this stage West knew the whole hand. South surely had the ace of clubs, for otherwise he would lead clubs immediately to force out the ace. South couldn't have much else, however, since his bid of one no trump showed a weak hand.

Needed Action
It was clear that South held diamonds headed by K-10 also, since East would have played the ten from A-J-10. In short, West saw that action was needed to stop declarer from taking six clubs, two diamonds and one spade.

West's first step was to put up the ace of spades. Each followed with the nine of spades in the attempt to signal his strength. West cashed the ace of hearts to see what his partner thought about this, but East played the discouraging deuce. Hence West led his other spade through dummy's king.

Now the defenders were in position to get three spades, two hearts, and the ace of diamonds. South had to settle for six clubs, one diamond, and one spade to avoid going down two.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S. A 6, H. A Q 8 4, D. 9 8 5 3 2, C. 5 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs, the Stayman convention. This promises nothing as to clubs; it merely asks partner to show a major suit if he can. If partner has four hearts you want to play the hand at game in hearts; otherwise, in three no trump.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

1. Most things in the mind are...
True— False—
False, says a report from four psychiatrists from the Washington University School of Medicine. One trouble is that people are often studied only after they are already sick. They are likely, perhaps mistakenly, to blame the illness upon some emotional difficulty. A study of pregnant women in hospitals showed that they suffered from all kinds of emotional difficulties, yet physically they remained healthy. Often the "mind" is blamed for an illness really due to the body. Learn the differences between real and imagined illness by reading "How To Be An Emotional Growup." The book is yours for 20 cents and a stamped, return envelope sent to...

2. Has TV affected the movie industry?
Yes— No—
Yes, greatly, says Eric John-

3. Can you remember your dreams?
Yes— No—
Yes. You can learn to, providing you really want to. Dreams are often ways of concealing from ourselves how we really feel. Naturally we often prefer not to remember them or, at least, not to understand what they mean. One way of doing so is to "forget" some crucial part of them, thereby making them seem harmless. In some instances, a psychiatrist can help restore this lost memory by hypnosis.

SEAMS TO ME

B. Patricia Scott

Questions On Sewing

You can make almost anything yourself in wearing apparel but there are some things that must be professionally done

Q I'd like to make a permanently pleated skirt in a synthetic fabric that looks like wool. How can I do it so the pleats stay in? Miss T.L.

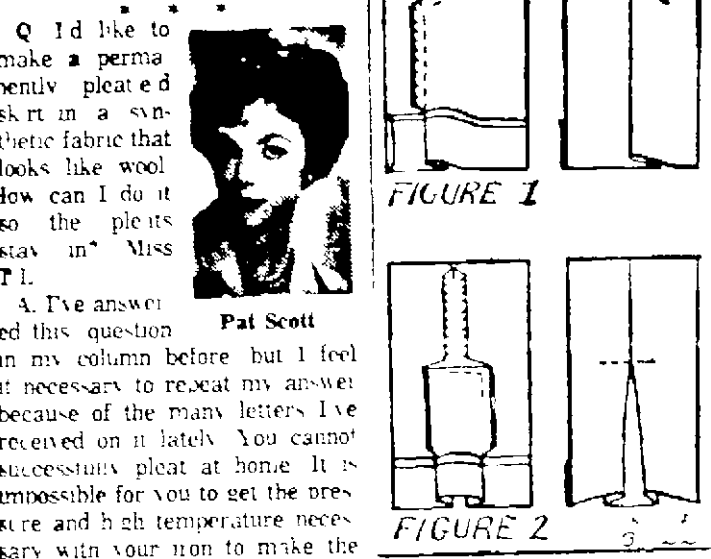

A I've answered this question in my column before but I feel it necessary to repeat my answer because of the many letters I've received on it lately. You cannot successfully pleat at home. It is impossible for you to get the pressure and high temperature necessary with your iron to make the pleating permanent. The only thing to do is have a pleating firm which specializes in this process do the job for you.

Q I have a difficult time with pleats and inverted pleats. They are always bulky and go out. Can you show me how to make both types so they are even and lay flat? Mrs. H.B.

A Figure 1. To make a side pleat such as the long skirt seam and the seam of the pleat exterior. On the right side fold and press in place. Stitch through all thicknesses at top of pleat as shown Figure 2. For inverted pleat, stitch seam above extension. Continue on extension with machine basting. Press entire seam open. Stitch the underlay to side and upper edges of extension. On the outside stitch across top of pleat through all thicknesses. Remove the machine basting and press firmly.

Q Not long ago you answered a question regarding using wax as a chalk for marking. Now my question is how do you remove marks left by a tracing wheel and carbon paper? The fabric is washable and the marks show on the reverse side. Miss C.

A Use alkali and detergent. Works. Test it on a scratch first.

Pat Scott

Q I just made a satin dress and on my torso the color looks shaded. This is the skirt and the bodice look a though they don't match. Also I've been told the back of the skirt looks a little different from the front. What happened? Miss B.S.

A You probably cut it out wrong. When cutting satin, you should follow the layout on the pattern for napped fabrics. All pieces should be placed going in the same direction.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers and whenever possible will use their questions in her column but because of the great volume of mail received daily she cannot answer individual letters.

North Side Annexation Moves Ahead

Appleton Public Works Board OKs Junior High Site

Purchase of a junior high school site and annexation of about 80 acres north of U. S. 41 to Appleton were informally approved by the Board of Public Works yesterday.

The board also approved purchase of a third lot at the Pingle lot water tower site.

The board will recommend purchase of the 18-acre school site as soon as Percy C. Menning, the owner, gets a technical description of the land. Cost will be about $45,000 with a $12,500 down payment.

The school site is on the north side of Florida Avenue on both sides of Drew Street extended.

A condition of the sale is that the city agree to annex a square block bounded by U. S. 41, Drew Street and Florida Avenue extended and Meade Street and north and west of the site to form a square extending north to Capitol Drive. Other property owners in the area probably will seek annexation too, Menning said.

Menning proposes annexation of the full width of Drew, Florida, Meade and Capitol where they bound the land to be annexed so that city improvements can be made. Ordinarily, new parts of the city have borders between streets so the city does not share streets with the county. This simplifies improvements and maintenance.

The city bought two lots for a water tower on N. Summit Street last year from Mrs. Minnie Pingle, who wanted her money back when she learned it was for a water tower and not for homes. Mrs. Pingle will sell the adjacent lot at the corner of Summit and Madison streets. Water Commission.

Speeding Charges Dismissed by Judge

OSHKOSH — Speeding charges against Helen A. Fredericksen, Dale and William W. Robertson, 503 W. Eighth St., Appleton, were dismissed today by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane, who said he thought state police would have given them warnings in view of their long driving records without arrest.

Both were arrested for driving 35 miles an hour over the speed limit in a radar speed check.

Paine Art Center to Have Exhibit by Beatrice Field

OSHKOSH — Paine Art Center and Arboretum will open an exhibit Saturday featuring original drawings of Beatrice Field, landscape architect and consultant in design from Leominster, Mass.

Formal opening of the exhibit is scheduled from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Field has had a one-man show at the Smithsonian Institute, Washington D.C., at Vassar College and the main art gallery, Boston Library.

Born in Jacksonville, Ill., Mrs.

Danny Fischer thought the needle hurt when Dr. Paul Wainscott administered the tuberculin skin test at St. Patrick School, Menasha, judging from the lad's expression. Miss Lillian Lyon, school nurse, held him steady. Skin tests are being made in all Menasha schools.

Kiwanis Club Civic Project

Try to Measure Responsibility of People to Community

The Northside Appleton Kiwanis club Tuesday held its kick-off meeting for a 1961 project — Citizenship Quotient (CQ) for building responsible citizenship.

The project was outlined by Ray Block, chairman of the club's public and business affairs committee. Citizen Quotient — or CQ — week will be observed from April 3 to April 9. Pamphlets will be distributed inviting people to rate their own personal CQ as a measure of their responsibility in the community.

Block told club members the objective is to accomplish greater things by everyone in the city thinking in terms of building responsible citizenship.

Public business affairs committee members in addition to Block are Willard Johnson, co-chairman; Don J. Joseph, Bellin Lee Atkinson, Norman Bessert and Robert Pollock.

Menasha Council Alters Assessment

List 6 Classes of Surfacing; No Charge for Rebuilding Streets

MENASHA — New streets and levelling for streets in newly annexed areas of the city will result in reconstructing streets with better surface materials.

Mayor John Klein commended Ald. Louis Gammey, who has worked almost two years to have the assessment policy changed to the present form.

Klein said, "You've been quite a stubborn alderman on this. You kept it at until you got it passed. It is a good ordinance and I hope it works to the complete satisfaction of all."

In 1957 the city resorted to special assessments to help hold down property taxes. At subsequent public hearings, many protests caused wholesale cancellation of street development.

Six classes of street surfacing are noted in the ordinance: concrete Class A, bituminous concrete Class B, bituminous penetration Class C, mixed bituminous Class D, bituminous surface treated Class E, gravel or stone Class F, with or without oil or other binder. The order begins with the highest class and is graded to the lowest.

When the council decides to replace an existing street surface with new surfacing of the same class, the rebuilding will not be financed by assessments but costs will be taken from general street funds.

Whenever abutting property owners ask for better street surfacing or when the board of public works decides street surface of higher classification is needed, the council reserves the right to assess.

Driver Falls Into Pit, Sprains Left Ankle

MENASHA — An Oshkosh industrial wiper service driver sprained his left ankle this morning when plunking over an excavation failed to support him dropping him four feet.

He is Leon Polishinski, 317 W. 14th Ave., who was treated by a local physician.

Polishinski alighted from his truck at Racine and Broad Streets and went through plunking left on the terrace by a city street crew.

MILWAUKEE — A prominent Milwaukee neural surgeon testified this morning that Appleton attorney Allan Cain was not competent to wilfully file an incorrect income tax statement during the years 1954, 1955, 1956 and 1957.

Cain and his wife, Margaret, the government has charged, fraudulently understated their joint income tax returns between 1953 and 1956 by $60,674, thereby evading $19,956 in taxes.

Dr. Harry P. Maxwell, an associate in the department of neurological surgery at Marquette University, said he has treated Cain since Feb. 10, 1960. His opinion on the attorney's competency was based on his own tests and interviews and the results of Cain's medical records at Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., and those of Dr. Donald W. Curtin, Kimberly.

Dr. Maxwell testified his examinations of Cain produced findings of a "localized wasting away of the brain particularly on the left side frontal and temporal regions." The damage according to the neural surgeon affected control of Cain's speech, memory, concentration and judgment. It was his opinion the doctor said that the symptoms of organic impairment to the brain began sometime during the years of 1948-1949 or 1950.

Fishing Boats Ordered From Menasha Park

MENASHA — Two commercial fishermen have been ordered to remove their boats and other equipment from Jefferson Park within two weeks after the opening of navigation.

The park and recreation board directed chairman Linus Planck to write Arthur Coel and Wallace Wehner, both of the Town of Menasha, to stop using the park.

The fishermen have been removing rough fish from Lake Winnebago on arrangement with the Wisconsin Conservation Department.

The Jefferson Park boat stalls will not be enclosed nor will any other buildings be constructed for boating equipment the board decided.

Robert Vanervenhoven, recreation director, reported receiving 98 essays from Menasha High School students and 107 from St. Mary students for the Blue Inn sponsored contest on "How to Improve Menasha."

The board advised the little league no bleachers will be rented for games since the city does not own an adequate number of bleachers.

Bids for operating concessions at Jefferson and Menasha ball parks were tabled until the April meeting to allow bidders to explain their proposals.

Mead Park Asked As Name for New South Side Pool

Mead Park is the name the Appleton Board of Public Works is recommending for the new south side swimming pool.

The Mead family of Wisconsin Rapids is prominent in consolidated Water, Power and Paper Co. which donated the pool site to the city.

Stan Mead

ton W. Mead has been president of the corporation since 1960. A trustee of Lawrence College has been president of Sulphite Pulp Manufacturers Research League and helped found and direct Trees for Tomorrow, Inc.

Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski says work on the pool is ahead of schedule. Contractors asked for the name of the pool so a plaque can be made for it.

Man Hurt When Car Rolls Over

NEENAH — Robert A. Gordon, 29 210 F. MacArthur St., Appleton, received injuries to his back and neck when his car rolled over on County Trunk A in the Town of Menasha at 12:38 p.m. Tuesday. The car was damaged extensively. Gordon's injuries are not considered serious.

Gordon said he was headed south and his car began to swerve while rounding a curve a half mile north of Payne's Point. The car went into the ditch and traveled 121 feet after leaving the road, Winnebago County police reported.

Neenah-Menasha Pledges to the 1961 Cerebral Palsy Telethon totaled about $1700. Neenah-Menasha Javettes manned the phones in three hour shifts during collections. Left to right are Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, Mrs. William Erby and Mrs. Robert Lieber. Mrs. Payne and Mrs. James Wahlers were general chairmen.

City Hall Signs Involve Political Protocol Issues

Ordinarily setting up of an office building directory sign is relatively simple — it's a list of titles or names followed by room numbers.

But in Appleton City Hall political protocol complicates the matter.

Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski suggested to the Board of Public Works yesterday that the list be alphabetical according to title or office name.

The board had a number of different ideas and after the meeting Duszynski agreed to make a second draft. The board suggested that the major officials —

Lakeview District School Reorganization Explained to Electors

NEENAH — Lakeview School joint or unified district with Neenah District can do one of three things to meet requirements of pupil per year the high school district law and many of them will cost less than the subject the school board remaining independent, voters of the district were told last night.

The district's study committee said possibilities were to form a new independent district, to become a joint district with Neenah City school district or to form a unified district with the Neenah system. All territory must be in a district with a high school by July 1962.

Lakeview District pays $634 a year for each of its children attending Neenah High School. If the district built a high school the cost probably would be about $300 a year, it was said.

Neenah cost would be about $462 per pupil per year.

When it gets all the facts on the subject the school board plans to call a meeting at which voters of the district can decide what to do.

Vernon Hanson, Edward Hill, Jack Meyer, Mrs. James Cowling and Mrs. Robert Werteen, committee members last night answered questions about transportation lunch programs, school costs, taxes and curriculum.

Water Usage Shows Drop At Neenah

Little Demand for Lawns Last Summer Given as Reason

NEENAH — For the third consecutive year more than one billion gallons of water were pumped through Neenah water mains. The exact figure was 1,235,515,000. However, this represented a drop of almost 35,000,000 gallons from 1959.

This was only the third time since the new water plant went into operation in 1936 that annual water pumpage has not increased each year.

The exceedingly wet spring Neenah experienced last year was a contributing factor to the decline in water usage as heavy lawn sprinkling was not necessary until later in the summer.

The peak day for water usage in 1960 was July 12 when 5,468,000 gallons were pumped. This compares with a peak of 5,454,000 Aug. 5 1959.

The average daily pumpage for 1960 was 3,385,000 gallons, compared with 3,491,000 in 1959.

More than 50 per cent of the total metered water usage went for industrial purposes. About 30 per cent went for residential usage and the rest for commercial and public use.

During the year, 17,161 feet of water mains were installed, extending the system to 64.5 miles. Fourteen fire hydrants were added for a total of 448 in the city.

Neenah gets most of its water from Lake Winnebago. It has a 36-inch intake pipe going out 1,600 feet into the lake. There is another 16-inch intake pipe going to the Fox River.

The water plant has a capacity of 12,000,000 gallons a day, more than twice the present peak pumpage.

Clifford Kemp, mill safety director, said fire broke out, possibly from static electricity, as Mittlestadt was cleaning an ink container with solvent. The solvent ignited and flames flashed into Mittlestadt's face.

The fire was out before the Kaukauna Fire Department arrived. Mittlestadt was taken to the hospital by a physician who was called to the scene. He was reported in good condition at the Kaukauna Community Hospital.

Northerners Beaten

Southerners Can Work Faster in Hot Climate

CHICAGO — Southerners turn study conducted at Homestead, Fla., during July and August 1939 in a "superior performance" compared with northerners in an experiment to test capacities for work in a hot climate.

Nine healthy young men, four from New England and five from southern Florida, took part in the study. The maximum temperature during the test was 85 degrees. "The best performance was shown by two southerners whose working body temperature and heart rate remained unaffected by environmental temperature being influenced only by the speed of walking," the article said. These two subjects maintained thermal balance simply by increasing their sweat output in proportion to the rise of environmental temperature.

The study showed that the total thermal strain of walking at a rate of 3 or 3½ miles per hour was roughly 40 per cent greater for the northerners than for the southerners at 70 degrees and 70 per cent greater at 84 degrees.

Better Thermometers

Conclusions drawn were summarized as follows:

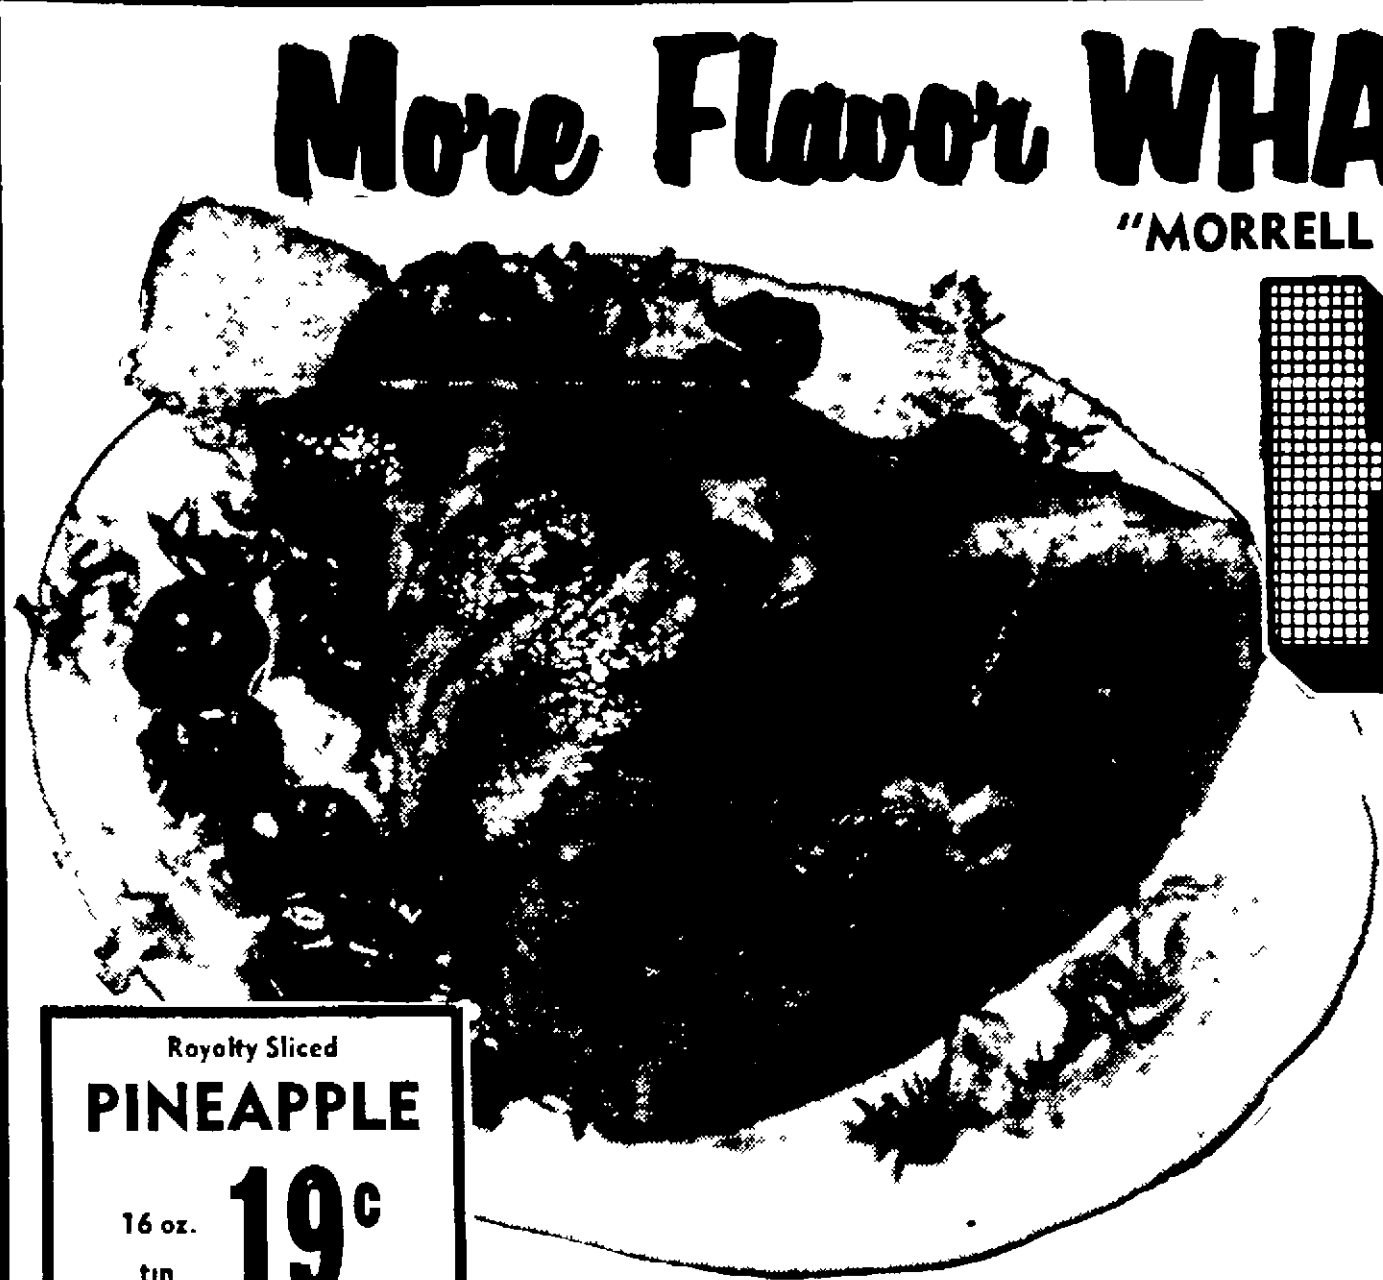

"A comparison of the performance of young southern Floridians with that of a similar group of New Englanders, walking in the humid heat of Homestead, Fla., indicated that the southerners had a more efficient heat regulating system, which enabled them to perform the standard exercises with distinctly less sweating and a smaller rise of body temperature and heart rate. The southerners required a shorter period for physical conditioning in the heat and lost acclimatization at a slower rate than the northerners during periods of cool, rainy weather. The superior performance of the southerners is ascribed to their long term acclimatization and their knowledge of living and working in their accustomed warm climate.

"It would seem that in selecting personnel for duty in hot areas, the geographical origin of the individual should be given a high priority, possibly next to that of physical fitness."

The article was written by the late Constantin P. Yaglou, Boston, who was a professor of industrial hygiene at the Harvard School of Public Health, and consultant to the Armed Forces Epidemiological Board.

Northside Annexation Moves Ahead

Mayor James Flag told the board.

He said the tower will take only two lots, so the other could be sold to someone who doesn't mind living under the tower. The site will be landscaped as a park, he added.

The board agreed to ask the board of education whether bonding for either the south side high school or north side junior high school could be postponed from 1963 to 1964 in the five-year capital improvements program.

The board accepted bids of $114.90 by Lunds on Scale Co. Appleton for a small scale and $80 by Exact Weight Scale Co. Milwaukee for a large scale for the Department of Weights and Measures.

Action was postponed on chlorination of the water main assessment for property at 2006 E. Newberry St. owned by William East. Although part of the land is a ravine, it may some day be filled and used as a hundredweight, an unusually large difference.

Board members asked for a joint meeting with the Public Safety Committee Tuesday to discuss fire station site offers.

A Park Board picnic site request was put in the land office file.

No reduction was recommended in the water main assessment for property at 2006 E. Newberry St. owned by William East. Although part of the land is a ravine, it may some day be filled and used as a hundredweight, an unusually large difference.

Henry G. Kuhn, owner of Kuhn Enterprises Little Chute, told the board he would finish this week razing buildings in the industrial park, and on the parking lot in the 100 block of S. Walnut Street.

Around Home

Spring arrived—officially and unofficially—Monday. The calendar said so and so did several residents of Kimberly and Appleton who spotted robins in their yards. Some of the birds straggled around all winter, but these were "strangers" and apparently among the first to arrive here from winter quarters in the south.

MENASHA — Brown Funeral Chapel will provide the official city ambulance service, the common council decided Tuesday.

Mayor John Klein was asked to send a letter of appreciation to the city of Neenah for providing ambulance service to Menasha for many years.

Taylor C. Brown offered to provide the city with ambulance service at $8 a call and relieve the police department of the job of billing and collecting for the service. Aldermen emphasized that the city

Ask Engineers To Make Lake Level Survey

Menasha Council Sets May 2 Hearing On Apartment Sites

MENASHA — An Army corps of engineers survey of Lake Winnebago levels to aid in flood control in communities along the Fox River waterway was endorsed Tuesday by the common council.

The Army agency had asked all communities involved to forward their sentiments to help secure the proposed $200,000 survey.

Some pressure has been put on the engineers to drop the lake level because of occasional flooding in low-lying areas. Last spring parts of Neenah and Menasha were submerged four weeks by high water resulting from the heaviest rains in many years.

The council also Ratified Mayor John Klein's reappointment of Gerritt Reimer and appointment of Hugo Pauer to the board of appeals for three-year terms beginning Feb. 1. Pauer succeeds Peter J. Borenz who had declined reappointment.

Move License

Approved moving the beer and liquor tavern license from Leopold Tavern 156 Main St. to the Brun Bowling Alleys 1 Main St.

Set 7:15 p.m. May 2 for public hearing on proposed rezoning of lots in the first addition to Maplewood Heights subdivision from one-family residential to multiple family residential. The lots will be on both sides of De Pere Street from immediately north of 11th Street to the school south edge of the site on Airport Road.

Learned a final meeting on specifications of the proposed Ninth Street storm sewer project will be Thursday night in city offices. The board of public works and McMahon Engineering Co. representatives will discuss the project expected to start this spring.

City Purchases

Approved purchase of snow plow mounts and a salt spreader for the street department; a portable radio transmitter; receiver for police and a radio for the new fire department emergency truck.

Allowed the city nurse, Mrs. Raymond Feit, to attend the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association convention April 14-15 in Milwaukee.

Approved advertising for bids for curb gutter and sidewalk projects with bids returnable April 18.

2 Appleton Girls Reprimanded for Shoplifting Spree

Two Appleton girls, 10, were reprimanded by Appleton Police Tuesday and returned to the custody of their parents after the girls admitted a shoplifting spree in Appleton stores.

A clerk at a Kmart Store, 700 W. College Ave., called police when he found a purse studded with bracelets and medals behind a clerk on a shelf.

Detectives found an address in a charm bracelet and traced it to one of the girls. The two skipped school Friday and Monday and went through several stores, they said. Taken were four strands of imitation pearls, a prayer book, rosary, seven bracelets, several necklaces, lipstick, fingernail polish, a coin purse, a plastic wallet, two silk scarves and a purse.

The girls said they decided not to take the loot home and left some at the store and some more at a west College Avenue service station.

It was the first time either girl had done such a thing, they told police.

The first branch of the U.S. District Court on the third floor of the gray stone Federal Building here was nearly filled this morning. Many of the persons on hand were Appleton and Fox River Valley area attorneys and legal officials subpoenaed by the government.

No Black and White
"Would it change your opinion," Corey asked the doctor, "if I told you Mr. Cain handled approximately 50 law cases including a murder trial defense each year during the years from 1952 to 1955?"

Dr. Maxwell said it was possible to carry out the mechanical intellectual functions without apparent difficulty. There is no black and white in this case, he said. The neurologist declared it was his opinion the brain wastage had a direct influence on Cain's behavior, making him incapable of dealing with any type of emotional or psychological stress.

The Rev. Hanchett said that over a two-year period law enforcement agencies in the county reported 1,643 juvenile apprehensions of which 1,402 were boys and 241 girls. About 40 per cent of those arrested were referred to juvenile court.

Board Okays Class in Driver Education

To be Compulsory at Kaukauna High Starting in Fall

KAUKAUNA — The board of education Tuesday afternoon approved a compulsory driver education course at Kaukauna High School to begin in the fall term. The driver education plan will be given during home room period until the 30 required hours are reached. With few exceptions, it will be assigned on the sophomore level and be handled through the vocational school driver education program. No graduation credit will be granted but grades will be given. Arrangements for behind the wheel training will be handled by the vocational school and set up to not interfere with regular academic classes. The program will be established on a 1 year experimental basis.

Increase Insurance

Board members agreed to increase insurance on the schools to $3,340,000 or 100 per cent replacement value compared to the 75 per cent formerly in force. New insurance will take effect April 1 and will be divided among various insurance carriers in the community.

The new insurance is under the "public institution form" and provides for complete fire as well as vandalism and malicious mischief coverage at a premium less than paid before.

The building and grounds committee reported architects had been screened and a list of five or six made for consideration to design the new high school building. The group will start a survey of schools designed by architects still under consideration.

At the recommendation of Julian Biehler, superintendent, J. P. Mann, former superintendent at Appleton, was engaged as an educational counseling agent particularly in regard to the new building.

Free Program Bids

The bid of utility clearing for $640, cost of pruning, trimming and feeding trees at Park and the high school was accepted. Work is to be done both this spring and next fall.

The superintendent was instructed to issue contracts to all teachers who have not signed an intention of moving or resigning. New teachers hired include Jean Zeihen and Carol J. Dolbier, first grade; Sylvius Wustenberg, fifth grade; and Jacqueline Zelninski, home economics teacher for the high school.

A discussion was held on the possibility of a special class for trainable students in Kaukauna. At present the trainables from the city are handled at Morgan School, Appleton, or in a special class at Little Chute.

Industry, Labor Must be Closer, Executive Says

Manitowoc Man Discusses Automation With Plant Managers

Now is the time for industry to go out and sell itself, become closer knit with the labor force and stop giving unions all the credit for higher wages and benefits, dairy plant managers from throughout the Fox River Valley were told Tuesday night.

"We, management, forget to get next to our people in industry," Frank H. Roberts, director of employee and labor relations, White House Milk Division of Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., Manitowoc, said. "I'm not for or against unions, but it is time people knew that management had a part in industrial development. Rogers spoke at a meeting of the Northeast Wisconsin Dairy Technological Society at the Appleton Elks club.

He traced development of industry and automation from the time of the depression to the present in a talk, "Challenge of the 60's—Automation and Human Relations." Human relations, Roberts said, is the science of handling people to gain cooperation to do the best possible job and make a profit.

Automation Easier
As far as automation goes, he said, "we've been automating since we've had business. It is a way of doing things easier at less cost." From 1945 to 1955 the United States experienced the greatest automation in history. We had the greatest boom after the war because there was a pent-up demand for goods, Roberts said. "We didn't care how much we paid."

"This had a bad effect on labor," he continued. "Unions didn't get all the wage increases for labor. There was something more to higher wages than union pressure—it was the economic times. Industry was making a profit. There was a shortage in the labor supply. You know when a commodity is in short supply you buy it high. When in surplus you buy low."

Industry at this time was making a profit and was not adverse to paying higher wages. It was more logical for industry, paying high corporate taxes, to give more to its plant rather than the government, he said.

"The 60s present a challenge to industry and its people." We have buyer resistance to price increases, and a buyer who won't wait for us to give him a commodity. We also have the problem of foreign competition, he said.

When we gave foreign countries the know how and machines, we started foreign competition. They pay lower wages and can produce at a lower unit cost. To compete we must get labor and management working together as a more efficient unit to produce a product at a lower cost.

Meet Challenges
To meet these challenges we must automate, he said. This may eliminate jobs, but not people. We need people to develop new products which provide new jobs so we can compete he said.

Management today is becoming more realistic. It is more willing to take a strike and a union is less willing to strike, Roberts said.

"The consumer is putting himself at the bargaining table because of his sales resistance and opposition to high prices. We won't pay a union more for less work but more for more production. In the 60s we can't continually give out supplemental wages (fringe benefits). It is a cost to the firm, but the best part of a man's wages because he pays no tax on it."

The high cost of living no longer will be a tool in a strike, he said, since people aren't going to stand for many more raises in the cost of living.

Child Management
Roberts chided management for not taking time to get closer to its employees. Unions did it for management and did a good job, he said.

He urged management to start training men in many jobs so it can cut costs of replacement and overtime. The average human being can be taught on a step ladder basis, Roberts said. There is no job in the plant he can't do. Labor in the 60s will be more intelligent. "If we fail in the 60s," he said, "we will fail because we didn't learn the art of management."

Union Negotiations Came to a close Monday at Pierce Auto Body Works, Inc., when a three-year contract was signed by the firm and the Pierce Auto Body Independent Union. Workers will get a 6 per cent raise each year for three years, and a gradual reduction of work week hours from 45 to 40. Signing the contract are, from left, seated, Douglas A. Ogilvie, president of the firm, and Glenn Besette, president of the union. Standing are, from left, Philip Burmeister, vice president of the union; Ronald Besette, union secretary, and John Jansen, union steward.

Important Factors
Employees, based on a national survey, Roberts said, placed these things highest in their work: (management's view follow).

One, credit for work done, seventh; 2, interesting work, third; 3, fair play and salary, first; 4, understanding and appreciation, fifth; 5, counsel on problems, eighth; 6, promotion on merit, fourth; 7, good working conditions, sixth; and 8, job security, second.

He set down these "musts" for a manager to do a good job in the 60s:

Be close to employees, be honest, be mature — have self control, be fair, be aware of working needs and be better in understanding what motivates people. He cited the last two as most important.

Assembly Kills Bill to Broaden Patrol Powers

Opponent Envisions Peril of Creating State Gestapo

MADISON (AP) — The Assembly today voted 61 to 34 to kill a measure to broaden the arrest powers of the State Traffic Patrol.

The bill would have allowed state patrolmen to arrest persons who committed or were suspected of committing felonies and misdemeanors on highways.

A similar bill is still before the Senate.

Now the State Traffic Patrol is limited to arrests for traffic violations only. The bill would have allowed patrolmen to arrest criminals and fugitives from justice but would have limited arrest power to highways and require that state patrolmen turn over arrested persons to local authorities.

Measure Attacked
Assemblyman Frank Nikolay, D-Abbotsford, who sponsored the bill, said it was "a logical and reasonable extension of the state patrol's power."

Assemblyman Sherman Sobocinski, D-South Milwaukee, said the bill was "just to enlarge the powers of the state patrol."

Assemblyman William Ward, D-New Richmond, said "if we let this bill go through we would build up a gestapo and police state bigger than the one they had in Germany."

The Bear Creek Fire Department extinguished the blaze.

The elder McGinn has moved to the home of a daughter, Mrs. Harvey Reinert, and the two children are staying with the Harvey Stoehr family.

Fire Damages Farm Home

Soot in Chimney Believed Cause Of $1,000 Blaze

BEAR CREEK — Damage estimated at $1,000 was done to the William McGinn farm home, route 1, New London, when fire broke out in a chimney about 8:10 a.m. today.

The woodburning stove in the kitchen is attached to a chimney located in a washroom. It is believed soot accumulated in the chimney ignited causing a washroom cabinet to burn. The washroom and kitchen were charred. Children's clothes in the washroom were burned and the refrigerator and cupboards in the kitchen were severely damaged.

The fire was confined to a 1½-story wing and most of the water and smoke damage also was confined to the area.

McGinn shares his home with his son, Everett, and Everett's six children. McGinn, an elderly man, Everett, a nightshift worker, and the youngest two children all were in bed when Everett noticed smoke and discovered the fire.

Braves Blast 17 Hits but Fall to Dodgers

Don McMahon Only Impressive Hurler In 16-15 Setback

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves are teeing off against opposing pitchers in Spring training exhibition games. But they aren't too happy as their own hurlers are being bombed.

The Braves belted Los Angeles Dodger pitching for 17 hits and 15 runs in 11 innings and still wound up on the short end of the score. The final count Los Angeles 16, Milwaukee 15.

In winning only one of their last five outings and having their Grapefruit League record evened at 5-5 the Braves have scored 47 runs. That's a tremendous output but in the same period Milwaukee hurlers have been tagged for 59 runs.

Spahn Named Veteran Warren Spahn was named by Manager Charlie Dressen to face the New York Yankees today in hopes that the stylish southpaw can show other hurlers what pitching should be like.

The Dodgers Braves wild slugfest was capped when shortstop Johnny Logan committed a throwing error and catcher Johnny Roseboro cracked his second two run homer of the game with two out in the 11th. Logan homered with the bases empty in the bottom of the inning in an effort to make amends.

The Braves employed six pitchers, starting with veteran right-hander Don McMahon.

Terror Track Team Will Open Season in Madison April 8

NOTES and NOTIONS

Coach Ned Wulk, whose junior-dominated 1960-1 Arizona State University basketball team won the Border Conference title and thrashed Southern Cal to reach the NCAA tournament quarterfinals, figures to have strong entries for some time to come.

Clintonville's Pete Kasson is a man of athletic distinction in the army, just as he was at the school of the Truckers and at Ripon College. The sharpshooting guard was chosen on the Army All-Star basketball team for 1961.

If Dick Wadewitz, Milwaukee Lincoln basketball coach, ever devises a way to break down the Comets' perseverance into its component parts, he could package them and make a fortune by selling "instant rallies."

One of the most interesting major league position duels for fans hereabouts is the one between Chuck Cottier and Jake Wood for Detroit's second base job.

13 Lettermen Form Nucleus Of Kinziger's Fifth Squad

BY MIKE DREW Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Waiting impatiently for the spring to actually appear over 80 Appleton High School track candidates are drilling daily for the 1961 season.

Except for a brief excursion on the sidewalk by a few brave souls earlier this week, drills have been conducted indoors. The Terror gym and hallways and Lawrence College's Alexander Gym facilities have all been utilized.

Coach Ray Kinziger's charges open their season April 8 in the Madison West relays. After that indoor test, AHS has two weeks off before opening its outdoor campaign in a triangular with Neenah and Fond du Lac, at Neenah.

Two more triangulars and two duals precede the Fox River Valley Conference event, May 12, at Fond du Lac.

13 Lettermen Back Kinziger starting his fifth season at Appleton has 13 lettermen from the team which finished a strong fourth in last season's conference meet and tied for first in the Green Bay Class A sectional.

Nine of the letter winners are seniors. Wayne Polzin, Dennis Gillespie, Bill Weber, Kent Anderson, Bob Arnold, Dick Rankin, Pete Kafura, Bill Ryle and Pete

Chapel Hill, N.C. (AP)—The spreading basketball scandal reached into the South today with the admission by Chancellor William B. Aycock that New York investigators had visited the University of North Carolina.

Aycock declined to comment beyond this brief statement he issued Tuesday midnight.

Two representatives of the district attorney's office in New York City visited the University of North Carolina campus on Tuesday. They were seeking information in connection with the current nationwide investigation of basketball.

Aycock gave no hint of which UNC players, if any, were questioned.

Aaron Wagman previously convicted of trying to bribe a University of Florida football player and Joseph Hacken were arrested in New York last weekend when the basketball scandal broke.

Both have previous gambling convictions.

15-20 Colleges Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan's office indicated that players from 15 to 20 colleges might be involved in the scheme to shave points, in favor of gamblers.

So far, however, only two players have been identified in connection with the scandal. Art Hicks and Hank Gunter, both of Seton Hall.

Hogan's office said Hicks and Gunter were paid $1,000 each to shave points in a game against Davidson at Madison Square Garden Feb. 9. Both are in protective custody and have cooperated in the investigation.

The district attorney's office said a University of Connecticut player—who has not been publicly identified—was paid $1,500 to shave points in a game against Colgate March 1 at Hamilton, N.Y.

Chancellor Aycock's statement resulted from a battery of questions concerning a Sports Illustrated article on the newsstands today that the scandal will involve some Southern state universities and players and teams in both the major postseason tournaments the NCAA and the NIT.

Several Players "On Monday of this week," the magazine article said, "New York City detectives were sent to the University of North Carolina and 15 to 20 colleges might be involved in the scheme to shave points, in favor of gamblers."

Howard Sent To Green Bay After Injury

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Los Angeles slugger Frank Howard was sent to Green Bay after a chipped bone in his left thumb for a couple of weeks.

Howard who played for Green Bay in the Three I League two years ago and married a Green Bay girl was ordered home Tuesday after X-ray disclosed the fracture.

He was injured on a tag play at first base against the New York Yankees Monday.

The 6-6 former Ohio State star will remain in Green Bay until he rejoins the Dodgers April 5 in need of improvement, said Erick Phoenix, Dr. Robert Kerlan, Los Angeles team physician, said he will determine then how long Howard will be lost to the Dodgers.

Howard topped the Dodgers with 23 homers and was second on the club in RBIs with 77. He was called up from the minors after the season was a month old.

This year the Dodgers planned to alternate him at first base and the outfield.

If Powers starts next season as he finished this one, he'll be the No. 1 guard, according to Erick.

The coach described Hearden as an excellent ball handler, a fine shooter and a good floor leader.

Hearden has no real play at first base against the New York Yankees Monday.

Hearden's skills are already being put to use.

At the end of the 1960 season the Badgers were stronger than at any other time in his two years at the helm.

Erickson declared the team next year if all the underclass dependables return and the class of freshmen come through.

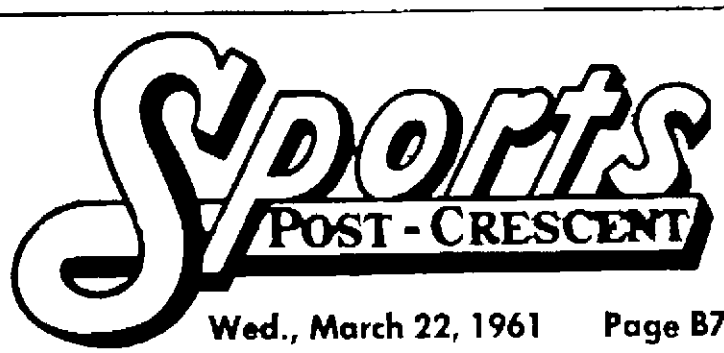

as expected, Erickson reports the outfield.

Head Coach John Erickson who spoke here Tuesday, indicates that Hearden (along with Rhinelanders Mike O'Melia and Monroe's Dave Grams) will provide the backcourt speed that was so conspicuously missing during the 1960-1 Badger season.

After the mid season loss of regular guard Jack Ullwelling and Marty Gharritty, the Badgers had forwards and centers bunting the ball up according to Erickson.

Hearden was not Dick Dutrisac's replacement until developed later on the National League's 1960 Rookie of the Year headed for Green outside scoring punch.

UW Coach Stresses Importance of Discipline, Respect

There are too many second guessers of people in authority is another criticism leveled by Erickson. Such individuals as teachers, coaches and Boy Scout leaders shouldn't be second guessed before the youngsters say Erickson. Rather, the parents should go directly to the authority.

Jim Schmole, Gary Floeder and Jim Chermak each hit points for the winners. Tom Ahl had 10 to lead St. Mary's. Two more quarter final games are on tap tonight. St. Margaret's Mary (Nenah) meets St. Joseph's (Appleton) at 7 and Holy Innocents (Manitowoc) tangles with Sacred Heart (Appleton) at 8.

Those unimplicated believe they can justify the bribes because they want the players to 'share' points rather than 'lose' the game, says Erickson. But players who accept are actually losing everything in life, the coach says.

Last season after an 18-4 record in 1959, got the $3,000 more he had demanded earlier.

Doherty, angered when the New York Yankees sent only one established player — pitcher Ralph Terry — for their B squad game with the new Senators, fired off an angry telegram to Yankee GM Roy Hamey.

It read, in part: "Thanks for nothing. I certainly didn't schedule Richmond (the Yanks International League farm club), but I sure got it."

So did the Senators, Richmond beat 'em 9-2.

In other games, Baltimore beat the White Sox 2-1. Los Angeles Dodgers outlasted Milwaukee 16-15 in 11 innings. Detroit edged St. Louis 3-2. Cincinnati blasted Minnesota 10-4. Boston rocked Los Angeles' Angels 12-3. The Chicago Cubs beat Cleveland 8-6 and Kansas City defeated the Yankees main squad 4-2.

Montreal Posts 6-2 Victory Over Chicago

Three Canadiens Hurt in Opener Of Playoff Series

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The power packed Montreal Canadiens are off to a flying start in quest of their sixth straight National Hockey League Stanley Cup championship.

The flying Frenchmen erupted for four goals in the third period to whip the Chicago Black Hawks 6-2 in Montreal Tuesday night to take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-7 series.

The Toronto Maple Leafs opened their best-of-8 semifinal round against the Detroit Red Wings in Toronto tonight.

May Be Costly

The Canadiens' victory may prove costly, however. Billy Hicke received a slight brain concussion when checked to the ice by Chicago defenseman Dollard St. Laurent in the first period.

Donnie Marshall and Jean Beliveau of the winners also were hurt, but not seriously.

Toronto, which was runner-up to Montreal in the regular season, is expected to play without forwards Red Kelly and Eddie Shack and defenseman Bobby Baun — all injured. However, Johnny Bower has recovered from a high all-conference player. Bob Goemans, with Green Bay "Y", is expected to use veteran Terry Sawchuk as goalie.

Best Phils

The Pirates beat the undermanned Phils with a 13-hit attack that brought across three runs in the fourth and four in the seventh while Bobby Shantz, Jack Kelly and Fred Green held Philadelphia to eight hits.

Terry worked six of the seven innings in the rain-shortened Yankee game, limiting Doherty's Senators to one run and five hits, and getting solid backing from a 16-hit attack that included a 5-for-5 performance by shortstop Fritz Brickett.

The Orioles won their fourth in succession after six losses when singles by Gus Triandos and Gene Stephens and Jerry Adair's double gave them two runs in the seventh off Chicago's Cal McLish. Rookie John Papa pitched four innings of no-hit relief for Baltimore.

Papa hurled for the 1960 Fox Cities Foxes.

Home runs by Wally Post and Jerry Lynch paced a 16-hit Red Sox offensive that subdued the Twins. The Red Sox used only one regular but Rip Repulski's single, double and homer paced an attack that was aided by six Angel errors.

The Cubs beat the Indians with four runs in the eighth—three on homers by rookies Nels Mathews,

The whole community was proud of the team.

Kimball presented the school with a check for $1,828.62, the amount collected in the fund drive.

After the breakfast, the group went to the St. Mary High School Auditorium where a gala pep rally sent the team on its way.

The Rev. Joseph Becker, pastor and principal of the school, declared at the rally that he didn't have much to say as he had already said the "big" word, —meaning he gave approval to the trip.

The Zephyrs will meet All Hallows Institute at 8 p.m. (CST) Thursday in the final of four quarter-final contests. All Hallows, located in the shadows of Yankee Stadium in New York is coached by Dick King, who along with another Twin Citizen, Ole Jorgensen, coached the North team in the 1954 North-South high school All-Star game at Murray, Ky.

King led the All Hallows team to the Eastern States Catholic tournament crown in 1953 and 1954. This season the team is paced by a 6-4 star, Gene McGetrick. The remaining front line players are John Hayes, 6-4, Dick Murphy, 6-3, and George Molloy, 6-2.

The tournament will begin Thursday afternoon with De La Salle (Newport, R.I.) meeting St. Peter Prep. (Jersey City, N.J.). Trenton Catholic (Trenton, N.J.) tangles with St. Peter High (Staten Island, N.Y.). Just prior to the St. Mary game, Archbishop Molloy (Jamaica, N.Y.) plays Bergen Catholic High (Oradell, N.J.).

Nicklaus Warms Up for 'Western' With Record 65

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — One thing's for certain, by golf yardsticks — big Jack Nicklaus wasn't lacking for want of preparation going into today's first round of the historic Western Amateur Tournament.

The 20-year-old clouter from Columbus, Ohio, turned in his final practice round Tuesday with a record-breaking six-under par 65. New Orleans amateur Jim Mangum set the old record of 66.

Other Western title aspirants had difficulties. National Amateur champion Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., posted a 73, and 1960 finalist Bob Cochran of St. Louis, couldn't find the mark with a borrowed putter and wouldn't reveal his "real bad" score.

Count Kites, Enter New Contest for Model Plane

Boys! Girls! Here's BIG news! Today, for the first time, you have a chance to win not only a local prize in a Cappy Dick mid-week puzzle contest, but also a national prize!

It's a gasoline-powered model airplane that flies. And what a beauty it is! It's Hobbycraft's Comet Model Starfighter, a really big plane—19 3/16 inches long with a wingspan of 16 inches, made of shining gray plastic. What's more, it's already built up, ready to fly. There's nothing you have to assemble. Just gas it up, start the motor and away it goes! Included in the Comet outfit is the assembled plane itself, the miniature gas motor, the starter and complete accessory kit, a supply of fuel, a fuel injection line, a battery and a handy tool to use in gassing up.

Five of these exciting ready-to-fly Comet models will be given away as the national prizes in today's easy contest. In addition, five local prizes will be awarded. The local prizes are packets of foreign coins from faraway places—five unusual pieces of money that boys and girls of this country rarely see. Use them to start a collection of your own.

Here's how to try for these prizes:

To qualify for one of the five national awards, you must first become the winner of one of the five local prizes. This is easy. All you have to do is decide how many kites are flying in the sky in the picture printed above, color them, then send the picture to Cappy Dick's Midweek Contest at the Appleton Post-Crescent, mailing it before midnight of day after tomorrow. Do your work neatly and accurately. After pasting the picture on a sheet of paper or a postal card, print the total number of kites beneath it. Also print your name, age and address. Add any decorations that you believe will make your entry outstandingly good.

The contest judges will examine all entries to find the 5 correct ones that are the most neatly prepared. The boys and girls who sent those 5 will be declared the winners of the foreign coin packets. Then all the local winning entries from cities where Cappy Dick's column is published will be re-examined to find the five that are the very best of all. To the boys and girls who sent those five, the Comet Starfighter gas-powered planes will be awarded.

Decisions of the judges will be final. All entries will become the property of Cappy Dick. Names

Harry Craft Likely Cub Leader for Opening Tilt

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The word "manager" is taboo in the Chicago Cubs' camp, but ex-Kansas City's pilot Harry Craft appeared today the likely coach-in-charge when the Cubs open at Cincinnati April 11.

How a head coach differs from a manager, except that with the Cubs the head man will be on a rotating basis under owner P. K. Wrigley's "new baseball approach."

The club has announced that four men — Craft, Elvin Tappe, Bobby Adams and Vodie Himsel — from a nine-coach staff would be on the season at the major league level.

Because Craft managed the A's from midway through the 1957 season through the 1959 campaign and was Lou Boudreau's No. 1 Cub aide last year, the betting is he gets first shot at bossing the 1961 Bruins. The 31-year-old Tappe, 1960 Cub coach, is strong second choice.

The theory is that one man will be "No. 1 coach" about a month, then yield to another, and so on throughout the season. Presumably, a protracted losing streak might set up a lively tag match, involving not only the four "starters," but also Charley Grimm, a three-time Cub manager, and the other coaches to be deployed in the minors.

Many suspected that Grimm, who directed the Cubs to two of their last three pennants (1955 and 1958), would emerge the 1961 boss.

Instead, for the nonce, club-vice president Grimm will be a roving coach in the Cubs' minor league farm system.

Kids Pepped Up
"I've done this type of work before," said Grimm. "It's just as important to keep the kids pepped up and on their toes in Wrentham and San Antonio as it is in Chicago—and that is something I know I can do."

There are those who suspect that, if the Cubs—who last season finished seventh, 35 games out of first and 1 ahead of last place Philadelphia — wallow as badly this season, that Grimm's morale building eventually will be summoned to Wrigley Field this summer.

Among the other coaches, all subject to quick recall to home base, Rip Collins is head coach of San Antonio. Verlon Walker will direct Wrentham, Wash.; Goldie Holt goes to San Antonio; and Fred Martin to Wrentham. Holt and Martin are pitching coaches.

New Owners Assume Title To Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two New York men, members of a group that is buying the Cleveland Browns for a price reported at just under $4 million, were in town today to accept ownership of the National Football League club.

Heading the New York group is advertising executive Arthur Modell. R. J. Schaefer, 60, a brewery executive who reportedly will become principal stockholder, also was expected to be on hand for the official transfer of ownership.

The current price is more than six times the price of $600,000 that was reported when the Browns changed hands in June, 1953. That was when a group including Dave R. Jones, Browns president, and Ellis Ryan bought the club.

One thing will not change. Paul Brown, who has coached the club since it was organized in 1946, will remain at the helm.

Henry Cooper Wins Easily Over Erskine

Calls Five-Round
TKO Just 'Workout'
For Patterson

LONDON (AP) —Craggy jawed Henry Cooper the Cockney heavy weight with the merciless left jab, hatched another scalp on his belt today and prepared to do battle with Floyd Patterson for the championship of the world.

"I think Floyd would be a pretty fair old target for a few of these lefts," grinned the tough Londoner after retaining his British and Empire titles before a hoarse crowd of 12,000 here Tuesday night.

Classiest Seen
Cooper, 27 years old and the classiest heavyweight to be seen in British rings these days, probably lined himself up for a shot at the world crown by slaughtering Joe Erskine of Wales in five blood-spattered rounds at Wembley indoor stadium.

Unmarked and unfriendly Cooper savagely jabbed the pudgy Welsh challenger to defeat with out ever looking troubled.

At the end of the fifth round of the scheduled 15-round bout Erskine retired in distress with his left eye mashed into raw flesh and his right eye seeping blood down his face.

"That," said Cooper in his dressing room afterwards "was just a workout for Patterson."

Japanese Say U. S. Standard Of Living Best

Think America Lags
In Scientific,
Space Achievement

BY RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI
TOKYO (AP) — Soviet space accomplishments place the Russians first scientifically in the minds of many Japanese. But the United States is given the edge when it comes to standard of living — for the time being at least.

While Socialist leaders and labor organizations denounce "U. S. imperialism" and "American warmongering," few individual Japanese can be heard privately running down America or Americans.

For example, none of the persons questioned in a series of random interviews felt the United States is more interested in preparations for war than in a search for peace.

"There are many problems to be overcome within America to attain world peace," said Goro Saeki, 40, a writer for a big Tokyo newspaper, "but it seems to me the United States is ultimately seeking peace."

"Still Dominant"
Saeki added: "I think America is still the dominant country in the world because the number of free nations still exceeds those of the Communist bloc."

What is the first thing that comes to the mind of a Japanese when the United States is mentioned?

"The cold war," said the newspaperman.

"Abraham Lincoln," said Masao Nakamura, a 24-year-old factory worker.

"President Kennedy," said Mari Sawada, 17, a high school student.

"Its richness," said truck driver Tsuyoshi Nakano, 27.

"I think of America as the leader of the Western allies," said Tsutomu Kameda, a 46-year-old physician.

"I think it is a wonderful country — but I only know it through the movies," smiled Kudo Kiadoaka, 21, a shoe sales lady.

What places would they most like to see in America?

"The Empire State Building or Niagara Falls," replied a 36-year-old taxi driver, Noboru Sawada.

"Hollywood," said a bright-eyed girl student. Other choices included the Grand Canyon, a typical farm and the road system.

Hisayo Miki, 26, a pale, serious-looking office worker stopped on a busy Tokyo Street and summed up her feeling about America in this way:

"Frank Open Relations"
"I am most interested in the rational way of life in American families. I am most impressed by the frank and open human relations among peoples in America."

"And at the same time, life in the United States is too mechanized."

And what do the Japanese on the street, in shops and restaurants like best about the United States?

Newspaperman: "Its youthfulness in doing everything, especially as seen in the recent presidential election, and the Kennedy administration's positive attitude toward the Soviet Union."

Doctor: "The people's way of life."

Taxi driver: "Americans do not have a strong class consciousness as you find in Japan."

Girl student: "The frontier spirit."

Factory worker: "Its spaciousness. I would like to live in the West."

Shoe seller: "The way everything is done in a big way and its roominess — not cramped like in Tokyo."

Asks Bill to Halt Beer Sales to 18 Year Olds

MADISON (AP) — The sale of beer to persons under 21 years of age would be prohibited under terms of a bill introduced in the Senate by Sen. Casmir Kendzioriski, D-Milwaukee.

Wisconsin now has an 18-year-old beer law. Efforts to repeal it in the 1959 session failed.

Other new legislation offered included a bill by Horace Wilkie, D-Madison, calling for repeal of Wisconsin's one-year residency requirement on public relief payments.

County court clerks would be assured minimum pay scales under terms of another proposal offered by the Senate Judiciary Committee at the request of the Wisconsin Clerks of Courts Association.

The measure would set a $4,000 minimum for court clerks employed in counties with populations of 10,000 or less. Those in counties of 100,000 or more population would be assured a minimum of $7,000. Courts operating more than one branch would have to pay clerks an additional premium of $1,000.

Being your own decorator is like being your own dentist, or your own lawyer or like having a surgeon ask you what kind of incision you'd like. Risky . . . very risky indeed. Of course, some rare women are endowed with the pure, sure instinct to decorate their homes exquisitely. (Some women sing at the Metropolitan, some women win in the olympics) but many women don't know matelasse from brocattelle, wouldn't know Louis XV if they sat on him. Most women should consult a decorator as naturally as they'd consult a cookbook or a dress pattern, or Dr. Spock. Luckily Prange's decorating experts are every whit as available as the aforementioned. Just drop in. Why should you bother to learn what our learned staff has known for years and is dying to impart? Don't fret over swatches and yardsticks and color charts. Don't be your own decorator. Mistakes are expensive. Prange's decorating help is fast . . . fun . . . and free.

Newest Albums Start Trend for Old Songs

Pops Drenched in Nostalgia, Many Tunes From Grandpa's Day

BY HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP News Service Writer

The Post-Christmas freeze in the record business is just beginning to thaw and already a log jam of new albums has accumulated at music counters across the country.

The trend, happily, is toward more old songs, the kind that Grandpa used to hum and that Junior is now beginning to beat out on his bongos.

The pops market definitely is drenched in nostalgia this season. Whether this is another manifestation of the sing-along craze or a welcome switch from the lunacy of rock 'n' roll remains to be seen — or heard. Whatever it is, enjoy it while it lasts.

Here are some examples of the new old trend in music:

Trumpeter Link — Roger Link and his whispering trumpet do an excellent job emulating "Hot Lips" Henry Busse's late 1930s sound. The album, "Salute to Henry Busse," is a collection of his greatest hits. The album is a collection of his greatest hits. The album is a collection of his greatest hits.

Philadelphia's Aqua String Band — This album is an excellent sampler for those unacquainted with the Williams' legend. The album is a collection of his greatest hits. The album is a collection of his greatest hits.

Management, Labor Asked For Harmony

The President told his new advisers, recalling that prior presidential appeals for wage-price stability had fallen on deaf ears. "I intend to get a look at this situation before there is a crisis. I do not want the White House to have to come in (on a wage-price inflationary spiral) at the last minute."

Meet Regularly
The advisers—including Henry Ford II, auto magnate; George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, and Ralph McGill, publisher of the Atlanta Constitution—buckled down to their job.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, chairman of the new group, said it was agreed the advisory committee would hold meetings at least once a month, the next session being set for April 3. All meetings will be held at the White House and there will be study between sessions.

Goldberg went from the labor-management meeting to a railroad union dinner Tuesday night. He called on rail labor and management to work together to solve their problems and put their ailing industry back on its feet.

Foreign Trade Threat
Kennedy and Goldberg seemed intent on impressing both management and labor with the idea that the challenges facing the nation won't wait long for answers. "Our competitive position abroad," Kennedy said, "is affected by the wage-price structure here at home. So this is most important in national survival. The problems of structural unemployment, long-range unemployment, are a matter of utmost concern now."

The President went on to say that changes in demand and production techniques in the steel, coal, auto and airplane manufacturing industries present "extremely serious" problems requiring early attention. "I don't know the answer to these questions," he said, "and I am sure none of us does, but I think together we ought to consider them."

Unemployed In Wisconsin Total 73,178 Equals 7.1 Per Cent Of State Work Force, Slightly Below 1958

MADISON (AP) — Unemployment in Wisconsin was reported at 73,178 Tuesday, equal to 7.1 per cent of the state's work force and only slightly below the peak jobless period of the 1958 recession. The State Industrial Commission, in announcing the figures Tuesday, said that in 1958 the highest unemployment reached was 7.2 per cent of the work force. New unemployment claims last week totaled 8,762 compared with 6,276 the previous week.

A spokesman for the State Employment Service said unemployment in Racine and Kenosha had surpassed that in Milwaukee and added that he expects the U.S. Department of Labor to declare all three cities areas of substantial labor surplus.

The Industrial Commission said current unemployment claims are more than twice as high as the 33,764 for the same period last year.

Jobless Pay Exemption Asked On Income Tax

MADISON (AP)—A proposal to exempt unemployment compensation payments from state income tax should be part of a general tax revision program, the Assembly Taxation Committee was told Tuesday.

The bill would decrease state and local tax revenue by an estimated $500,000 a year.

Representatives of organized labor, appearing in favor of the bill, pointed out that federal income tax law excludes unemployment compensation benefits.

Committee Chairman George Belting, R-Beloit, said the "most telling argument" against the bill was that the person who makes $5,000 in wages and $1,000 in unemployment benefits would be treated differently from the person who makes $6,000 in wages.

Appearing against the bill, Richard Rouse, a representative of the Municipal League of Milwaukee County, said it also would exempt private unemployment benefits from state income taxes and these were not exempt from federal income taxes.

Agriculture Official Lists Five Fallacies

Claims Notions Are Detriment to Farmers, Country

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Frank J. Welch said today five fallacies about agriculture have gained widespread currency in this nation—to the detriment of farmers as well as the country. The farm official listed the fallacies as follows:

1. A general belief that food costs are increasing much faster than other living costs and are responsible for inflation.
2. A contention that the farmer is chiefly responsible for the cost of food.

Getting Rich
3. A general belief that farmers are getting rich at the expense of consumers.

4. A belief that federal farm support programs are wasteful and encourage the build-up of crop surpluses.

5. A belief that the cheapest way to solve the problem of farm surpluses is to make a drastic cut in farm research.
Welch gave this list in a speech prepared for a symposium of poultry wealth being held by the department this week.

As to the first listed fallacy, the official said the truth is U.S. consumers pay about the same share of their income for food as in the years immediately after World War II. He said rent, transportation and medical care have gone up twice as much as food in the past 10 years.

Consumer Dollar
His answer to the second is that the farmer got only an average of 39 cents of the consumer food dollar in 1960.

On the third, Welch said non-farmers earned average incomes 2½ times the average of farmers last year.

State Ends Grantsburg Murder Arguments

GRANTSBURG (AP) — The prosecution rested its case Tuesday in the first degree murder trial for Charles J. Ulrich, 70, of Webster, in the fatal shooting Nov. 18 of Mrs. Jean Anello, 47.

Mrs. Anello was killed by a shotgun blast. Her body was found in the North Woods Pizzeria she operated near Siren.

Ulrich took the stand in his own defense and testified that he and Mrs. Anello had argued about a loan and that she was coming at him with a hammer when she was shot.

Dist. Atty. Donald Oakley of Burnett County called a number of technical witnesses to the stand, including three physicians and a criminal interrogation expert from the University of Minnesota.

Divorce Obtained by Wife of Millionaire

HONOLULU (AP)—Joyce Branning Vanderbilt obtained a divorce and an undisclosed property settlement yesterday from millionaire George Vanderbilt III, 45. She was his third wife.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, formerly of Los Angeles, said in her suit they lived together only six and one-half months after their marriage in Honolulu in 1958.

In claiming mental suffering as grounds, Mrs. Vanderbilt said her husband's absence from their home here caused her to be hospitalized twice for nervousness.

Mrs. Vanderbilt has been living at the Vanderbilt home here.

Speed Bill Protested

County Power to Set Uniform Limits Fought by Cities

MADISON (AP)—A bill to let counties set uniform speed limits on roads where conflicting local jurisdictions cause widely varied limits was protested Tuesday in the Senate Highways Committee.

Witnesses said the loose wording in the bill would allow counties to set speed limits on all state roads. Only roads maintained by the county should be regulated by the county, they said.

Dane County Highway Commissioner Ray Swann said the bill is needed now to clean up a dangerous situation.

Cited as one example of what can happen without uniform control was the "University Avenue" route between Madison and Middleton. There the speed limit is variously posted at 25, 35, 40 and 50 miles an hour—and back down again—as the eight-mile stretch of roadway passes through Madison, Shorewood Hills and the town and village of Middleton.

Money Aspect
Senator Casimir Kendzioriski, D-Milwaukee, and R. R. Heider, Elm Grove, who represented the municipal league of Milwaukee County, were concerned about a money aspect of the bill. It would let the county enforce regulations and collect and determine the use of all fines. They protested that where county roads run through cities and other municipal areas, those municipalities should be able to enforce their own laws and collect their own fines. A bill to limit flashing red lights to ambulances and emergency police, conservation, and fire vehicles, and use only amber flashing lights on other "emergency" vehicles, also was given a hearing.

Olive Green Benches Of St. Petersburg To Be Brighter Hues

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — This Gulf Coast community today begins to lose its identity as the "City of Green Benches."

The 3,400 benches remain, but olive green will give way to pastel colors—sunshine yellow, gulf blue, sandrift brown, bay green and ocean coral.

It is part of a project of the Suncoast Advertising Club to "alter the image of St. Petersburg."

No more shall the city be known as a retirement haven, the club maintains. From now on the pastel colored benches will be a symbol of youth and progress, of change.

It has been against the law to paint a bench in the downtown area any color other than olive green. The City Council Tuesday changed all that with one resolution.

Kennedy Asks Drastic Foreign Aid Changes

amount and to his loan systems which would bypass congressional appropriations procedures. Key legislators rebuffed Eisenhower on similar counts in the past.

Single Agency

Kennedy proposed

1 Lumping most existing economic aid programs into a single new agency whose boss would report directly to the secretary of state and the President.

Labeling the present setup "backward and slow, competing and confused," Kennedy proposed that the new agency take over "The multi-purpose International Cooperation Administration (ICA), the Development Loan Fund (DLF), the Peace Corps and the Peace Corps farm surplus disposal program and the new Peace Corps of volunteers for overseas work."

2 Five year authorization for the new aid agency plus five year authority to borrow from the Treasury to make loans for economic projects abroad $900 million in the fiscal year starting next July 1 and $1.6 billion annually for the following four years.

50-Year Loans

The loans would run up to 50 years, at no interest or at low rates of perhaps up to 2 per cent and would be repayable in dollars.

Kennedy saw long term authority rather than the present year by year appropriations system as the core of his plan to tackle foreign economic problems which he said require long range solutions.

A program based on long range plans instead of short run crises cannot be financed on a short term basis," he said.

3 Arms aid now running about $2 billion a year and administered through the Pentagon, would be separated from the annual foreign aid package and placed in the military budget.

4 Carefully tailored programs for each country receiving aid based on over all needs and local resources rather than unrelated projects, with special favor toward those nations undertaking social and economic reforms.

5 Emphasizing loans repayable in dollars, doing away with most of the loans repayable in local foreign currencies now handed out by the DLF.

6 Encouraging other industrial nations to share more of the aid burden.

Ready to Shift Funds

For the fiscal year beginning July 1 Kennedy said that while for peace farm surplus disposal he would stick with Eisenhower's program and the new Peace Corps of volunteers for overseas work would shift sharply the use of the funds, including transferring $200 million from military to economic aid.

Eisenhower proposed spending $1.8 billion for arms and $2.4 billion for various types of economic assistance.

Under the Kennedy program the arms figure would be cut to $1.6 billion and the remaining $1.5 billion would go for technical or Point Four aid outright gifts and the Peace Corps.

Total amounts for following years are not yet drawn up but could well exceed the Eisenhower figure, authorities said.

Foreign aid officials said it will be a couple of months before they figure out exactly how they want to revise the Eisenhower program for the coming year and in draw up Kennedy's long range plan in specific legislative form for Congress.

YOUR Social Security? QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. What form is used to report Social Security?

A. Form 942. It comes in an easy-to-use envelope folder, ready for mailing.

Q. Does the term "quarter" refer to any three month period?

A. No, it means a "calendar quarter"—a three-month period beginning on the first day of January, April, July, or October each year.

Q. How do I start reporting my Social Security?

A. Phone or write your nearest office of the Internal Revenue Service or your nearest social security office and ask for booklet OASI-21. This booklet contains full information on reporting social security taxes for household workers and includes a handy postcard form that you can use to get reporting forms you need.

Q. My cleaning woman works only one day each week. I don't have to pay social security on her, do I?

A. It depends on how much you pay her in each quarter of the year. If you pay your maid as much as $50 cash in a quarter, the law requires that you pay social security taxes on her wages ($4.00 a week paid regularly amounts to more than $50 a quarter).

The Social Security Administration office is in the Outagamie County Courthouse Annex, 401 S. Elm St., Appleton.

Other Symptoms of Heart Disease Accompany Cough

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is a cough a symptom of heart disease? My brother died suddenly, apparently from a heart attack. He never complained of being ill, but he had what he termed a cigarette cough. Would lying in front of a fan cause a heart attack? Please explain — AS."

Dr. Molner

A cough can be, in some cases a symptom of heart disease — but of the time, however, the various kinds of heart trouble give warn any such case, there will always be some other symptom too. It may be shortness of breath, some times heart pain (but far from all times), edema (that is accumulation of fluids and hence swelling of feet, legs, or other parts of the body) perhaps blueness or faulty color in the skin — oh quite a number of things.

Still other symptoms which the patient can't see but the doctor with instruments can detect will be present in chronic heart trouble. The cardiogram, the stethoscope and sometimes other devices will show these.

In some heart cases, "cardiac asthma" occurs. This can bring a cough. In other heart cases this does not occur.

General Term

A cough can be the result of cigarette irritation, throat irritation, lung trouble, nervousness, allergies, common cold, flu, bad tonsils, and a lot of less familiar causes.

As to "lying in front of a fan" this wouldn't cause a heart attack. In short — and I guess this is what I really want to get across — you have to remember that "heart trouble" is a general term. Just as "foot trouble" is general. The latter can be weak arches, athlete's foot, ingrown toenails, plantar warts, bunions, cramps, swollen feet, corns or a broken toe. All "foot trouble."

It can take 10 years for a bun ion to develop — or more. Or you can get a broken toe in a split second stumble.

So with the heart. An attack may (although it rarely does) strike without any warning. Most kinds of heart trouble give warn ing in advance.

If people will, at reasonable in tervals, go to their doctors and tell them about any and all symptoms that have become genuinely no tion of fluids and hence puffiness since the last visit they'll have at least a fair warning of what to look out for, what troubles to guard against.

You can't tell positively in ad vance, when a tire will go flat or the vacuum cleaner will develop "sclerosis of the dirt catcher" or an electric light bulb will burn out.

The human body is a lot more complicated than any of these. Health isn't something that stops all of a sudden as a rule. Usually there's advance warning and we should heed it.

A cough isn't a sign of heart disease. But a cough like a squeak in a car is a sign of SOMETHING. So observe and take care of the small squeaks as they appear and you'll be doing a fair and sensible job of protect ing your health. Hunting for some simple sign — afterward — isn't of much use.

Individualism Needed

There has been increasing concern during the last few years over a real or imagined downward trend of morality in the nation. Widespread tax evasion, payola, rigged quiz shows, cheating on exams, ghostwriting of theses have been added to the usual list of attempts to slide over the speed limit when no one is watching, buying a case of moon, or getting one's child into kindergarten a month early.

In the many articles and surveys on the matter, one point of view comes clear — there is an increasing lack of individual responsibility. Redbook magazine is printing a series of interviews with prominent Americans as to the causes of this situation. Some point to prohibition with the result that today's young and middle aged adults grew up seeing their parents flaunt a federal law. Others think the breaking up of family life during World War II due to frequent moves or both parents working has contributed to the laxness. The inequality of tax systems, foolishness of Social Security restrictions and unequal standards of gas rationing during the war also are listed. One point of view emphasizes that people are most likely to cheat when they think they are being cheated.

Most of these matters again go back to the failure of the individual to accept responsibility for his own actions. The Catholic Bishops of America stressed this angle in their annual meeting last year. We rely upon labor unions to get us raises without worrying about the means. We accept corporate dividends without concern about the operation of the business. We organize groups to censor books and movies and television instead of saying "no" to our own children. We give objective tests in school and balance them with the "norm" or we grade on a curve and play into the hands of the cheater who sneaked a copy of the exam.

Our acceptance of moral laxity is based upon the group. The federal government is fair game to the income tax dodger who might be appalled at stealing from an individual. The anonymity of the vast TV audience makes it is easy for some to perjure who would never lie to their wives. Catching the company off guard on a big expense account is part of the game of making a living. Falsifying social security payments or using a pony in class is just an ordinary matter of beating the system.

Bipartisan Tax Revision

The impression is growing around Madison that the political division in the control of the state government that the people arranged last fall may be a solid contribution to the goal of basic tax revision in Wisconsin.

Sentiment for the adoption of some kind of a sales tax act to complement the state's historically heavy and progressive income tax law and the increasingly strained property tax machinery is obviously growing. For the first time in the long history of the discussion of such tax adjustment, responsible Republicans are putting their names on such proposals as sponsors. Gov. Gaylord Nelson, for his part, went out of his way in his own revenue message to the legislature to say that he is not "dogmatic" in opposition to the sales tax alternative to his own higher income tax proposal, and offered his view that the time may come when the sales tax cannot as a practical matter be avoided.

It is yet too early to guess whether these reactions of the nominally opposed Republicans in the legislature and the Democratic executive will lead to agreement on this volatile question.

But there is a school of thought that makes a plausible argument that these circumstances are more propitious than if

Rival Town Lobbies

There comes to the editorial desk a printed publication which is the organ of the Wisconsin Municipal Alliance. Perusing its pages the reader may conclude that this organization of unknown membership is a rival of the larger and older Wisconsin Towns Association, and that it was created for the purpose of lobbying the state legislature in pursuit of the ends desired by the rural governments of Wisconsin.

For those who recognize the town lobby in Madison as one of the most obdurate

Phyllis McGinley says it well. "As we have lost our sense of personal honor we also have lost our feelings of personal responsibility for our actions. . . . We have come to expect the community and the government to do more for us. . . . Social security, old - age pensions, retirement programs and unemployment compensation have had the effect of putting into the law and contract our feelings that we are our brothers' keepers, that we are all responsible for human welfare in general. This, I believe is good. But as we have set up institutions to carry out our ethical beliefs in these areas, as we have developed a group morality and begun to put it into practice, we seem to have lost the sense of the need to exert ourselves individually."

Several years ago Philosopher David Reisman explained that the old reliance upon family or church standards were disappearing and "other-directed" influences were primary. This was mostly a matter of caring about the opinions of the community as a whole. As the parents try to keep up with the Armstrong-Joneses, the youngsters accept the same code. The fear of being chicken in the gang is more important than whether Dad approves. One's own good sense is lost in the effort to hit 100 per or sneak the boy next door a bottle of whiskey. The lack of concern in many families about rudeness, bad manners, vulgarity becomes a neighborhood attitude. Parents who do want to enforce sound rules on dating, late hours or parties find they must band together and do it in groups. And underneath it all is the parental fear of a personal reflection because of a daughter who doesn't go steady or a son who thinks honesty is more important than making a name in college or playing in the Rose Bowl.

There are two points in all this group morality and lack of personal discipline that seem particularly pertinent in 1961. The emphasis upon personal comfort not only means a high divorce rate and a lack of real achievement; it plays directly into the hands of the Communists who have used almost religious means of gaining a high degree of personal self-sacrifice from their members. And, secondly, a people who have their standards of values determined by the crowd or the bylaws of a club are sitting ducks for the oratory and organization of a tyrant.

the government at Madison was solidly under the control of one party or the other. This is a situation in which the parties can conceivably share the blame or the credit, and the responsibility, for making a bold step in adjusting the historical tax pattern.

A straight party regime might hesitate, for fear of creating an issue for the rival party in the next election. Surely that was the worry of the Thomson Republican administration of 1957 and 1958, and the reason for the hesitation of Gov. Nelson and the larger Democratic legislative caucus in 1959.

We would hazard a guess here, for whatever encouragement it may provide for these hesitant men at the capitol. If the Republicans take the initiative and offer the governor a carefully planned enactment, as they now indicate they may, Gov. Nelson will very likely accept it, as he came close to hinting in his speech last month. We would hazard, further, that both parties will find when they next canvass the electorate that there is far more realism among the people on this question than most of them knew. Everybody knows that tax adjustment is coming in Wisconsin. The only question is when. The situation that prevails in Madison today offers a practical political opportunity that may not occur again for a long time.

Democrats are demanding equal time. Now that Congress has restored Eisenhower's old rank of general, they propose it also restore Truman's old rank of captain.

President Kennedy nuzzles a cut over his eye. It's rumored he bumped himself rushing out to a news stand upon a wild rumor that Cardinal Spellman had just said a good word about him.

A curiosity of world affairs is that even though Russia is giving only a small fraction of the foreign aid we are, a lot of people seem to resent her anyway.

Federal agents smash a numbers racket in the Pentagon. The "number" at the Pentagon is based on the daily report of how many reams of paper the Democrats are using to close the missile gap.

Ike's Disavowal Of Mundt Quotes Welcome Sign

From The Greenville (S.C.) News: Former President Eisenhower's prompt disavowal of remarks attributed to him by Sen. Karl Mundt is a welcome sign. Senator Mundt had quoted the ex-president as criticizing the Kennedy administration. Eisenhower denied this later, saying he was reserving judgement until more concrete evidence is in. Eisenhower was wise to take this position. We already have one former president who pops off at the slightest provocation, indulging in criticism on the basis of partial evidence. That one is more than enough.

County Government Editorial Called Timely, Needed Prodding

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Your recent editorial entitled "County Government Can Be Improved" was of a 3-fold value.

While I realize that any expression by me of agreement with a Post-Crescent editorial is so unusual as to entail the risk of casting you into a state of severe shock and of causing consternation among my Democratic friends, I feel the risk is warranted.

First, your editorial was a timely and needed prodding with the point that our county government is not as effective as it could be.

Second, your editorial recognized the potentiality and worth of the League of Women Voters, a recognition too infrequently forthcoming from any direction.

Third, your editorial, in a sense, underscored the unwillingness of both major political parties to accomplish the needed changes in county government. For example, Gov. Nelson's proposal to place the election of certain county officers on a non-partisan basis will be opposed by both Democratic and Republican legislators simply because they feel such a change will weaken their party in the areas of its greatest strength.

The issue of county government improvement is just one of many which disclose the inherent weaknesses of our political system, one of which is the assumption by the party worker that his party's welfare is always synonymous with the public welfare. This defect of our 2-party system is one explanation of a preference among some nations for the 1-party system. The other serious major weakness of our 2-party system is the seeming inability of our parties to formulate a political philosophy, a flaw which helps explain the evolution in some nations of a multi-party system.

However, there is an alternative to the oligarchism of the 1-party system and to the fragmented effort of the multi-party system.

That alternative is a non-partisan political organization designed to shrink the weaknesses of our system while transforming its theoretical advantage into actuality, to act as a check and balance upon the major parties, and to give form and direction to the considerable substance of the now unorganized bloc of independent voters. Such an organization could make the public aware that parties are only a means to an end, not an end in themselves, and could impel the two parties to formulate and adhere to clear and opposite philosophies. Organized independent voters could focus public attention upon the ineffectiveness and inadequacies of local governments as well as of political parties. Through such a force the abilities and research of educator, business, labor, and farmer organizations and of such groups as the League of Women Voters could be better utilized for the benefit of all. Such a force could open the way to more political participation for those now repelled by narrow partisanship, by the apparent aimlessness of much political activity, and by the absence of party philosophies.

Government is only as good as its citizens. Therefore, either the Post-Crescent is right in maintaining that "government can be improved" or else the improvement of human beings is a lost cause.

Looking Backward

If True, Maneuver Will Fail

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for March 21, 1861.

There are strange rumors afloat that Confederate President Davis is really contriving his measures to bring the seceding States back into the Union by assuming the lead of the reactionary movement now being inaugurated in the South.

The object of any such maneuver is plain. The traitors will not return into the union from any sincere love of it, but from a realizing sense that Mr. Lincoln will not be coerced out of the sacred line of his duty by their threats, and from a determination to reassume their abused power in our national councils for the purpose of re-enacting their old game of intimidation and bullying and of crippling and destroying, if possible, the Republican Administration.

That game, if attempted, will fail. An extra session of Congress will block it from the start. It will be time enough to take the traitors back into our counsels when every theft and outrage has been atoned for, and some security given for tolerable decency in the future. Before this can be done, we shall have passed every Republican measure upon which we think proper to insist, and this resumption of power in Congress then will do the country no particular harm.

There were darker days in the Revolution, and there were patriots as well as Tories then as now. The Union shall be preserved!

Why State Legislators Don't Read All Bills

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The lady was indignant when she was told by an informed friend that there probably isn't a single legislator in this legislature or in any American legislature who has read and understood all of the separate propositions that he is required to vote upon.

"Nobody should vote on anything he hasn't read or doesn't completely understand," she insisted.

Maybe so, in the text-book ideal. The plain fact is that the legislature consists of a very human group of men, working under practical and difficult conditions. Chances are if the legislature consisted of 133 authors of political science textbooks, they would function in about the same way that the actual representatives holding seats under the capitol dome today operate.

There is nothing especially strange, or even dangerous, about the fact that the representative of your county is called upon a dozen times during the session to vote on something he doesn't wholly understand.

The mechanics of the system has anticipated that reality, and accommodated it.

HOW IT GOES

The committee system is the tool by which the legislature has met the problem posed by the fact that there are many hundreds of bills presented each year beyond the capacity of each individual to read, not to mention comprehend.

Committee membership tends to be drawn from those legislators who have a special interest or competence in its topical responsibility. Thus when a committee reports for or against a proposal, the rank and file member has a reasonable assurance that the recommendation tion is a fair and reliable guide. If the matter is controversial, there will be a majority, and minority report to provoke debate, and perhaps a division by parties. If there are any considerable number of members who are in doubt, or confused, it is comparatively easy to arrange for a delay until questions can be answered and doubts satisfied.

An American tank force rumbled into the former Chinese stronghold of Chunchon. It met

There are other protections for the member who may not have gotten around to reading each of up to 2,000 bills, or may not always understand each proposition. One of them is publicity. If there is any significant dispute about any pending matter, it will turn up at the hearing and the chances are overwhelming that it will draw public notice. There is no legislature in the country, probably, that is as closely covered by the public information media as is the Wisconsin legislature.

TECHNICAL BILLS

The new member is sometimes worried, and rightfully, about the heavy volume of highly technical material that is put before him. As society becomes more complex, businesses, crafts, professions fight out their rivalries in the political arena. A bill changing the technical requirements under the insurance laws might be totally incomprehensible to the average legislator (or to the average inhabitant of the press gallery, for that matter).

But the bill that is designed to favor unfairly one element is likely to damage another. That second interest will be heard from. Virtually every organized group in society has some kind of lobbyist representation at the capitol. These men examine bills in their fields minutely. When they find something they don't like or want, they can make a noise about it in a hurry and the issue becomes public property. Here again the legislative rules that conscientiously favor the minority interest, in the way of amendments, and delays, and hearings, and motions for reconsideration, provide a protection against maneuvering and trickery even when the rank and file legislator may not be wholly informed.

Perhaps, in the ideal commonwealth, the legislator should be fully familiar with each proposition, and competent to judge matters ranging from silviculture to mortician's licensing and traffic law enforcement. But the ideal is scarcely attainable under the conditions of political life today. It is not too much to guess that the only men who read carefully all of the bills in the Wisconsin legislature are those who are employed to do so for the legislative digest service that sells its bulletins to the thousands who ought to read but do not.

Merger Trend in Railroading Now Picking Up Express Train Speed

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The merger trend in railroading shows signs of picking up express train speed. The business slump has impeded new momentum, spilling red ink over books of scores of lines—particularly those in the East. Recent merger successes have started to produce a snowballing effect.

The Erie-Lackawanna Railroad Co., offspring of a corporate wedding only last September, has strikingly pointed out the quickening tempo by pleading recently to be taken into a new and larger merger plan.

Consolidation talks—going on in all sections—lately have become louder and faster in the Great Plains area, the Far West and the Northwest.

The underlying financial cause of the entire movement was illuminated by gloomy returns on 1960 operations.

2.13 Per Cent
As a group, recent figures show railroads earned only 2.13 per cent on their investment as against the 7 or 8 per cent often earned by government-regulated electric, gas and telephone utilities.

Twenty seven of the nation's 111 Class One railroads failed to earn fixed charges—that is, ran in the red. Nineteen were in the East, five in the South and three in the West.

The plight of the $435-million, 1,300-mile New Haven Railroad—backsliding toward the bankruptcy condition it escaped only in 1947—was enough to send a shudder through the entire industry.

Staggers Along
Spurring voluntary bankruptcy, the New Haven has staggered along lately with the aid of subsidies and $21.5 million government guaranteed loans. Since the way, the Wabash and the New automobile, truck and airplane, York, Chicago and St. Louis roads in the West in a brawl between the Santa Fe and Southern state pipelines—the handwriting of separate merger proposals for has been on the wall for consolidationally filed last Friday, ultimately ly would be joined into the Pennsy domain.

The Erie-Lackawanna said it will fight the powerful Pennsy, already the nation's No. 1 line, on Lehigh Valley acquisition unless it is admitted to the long-range consolidation picture.

Last $20 Million
Obviously, the Erie-Lackawanna which lost nearly $20 million last year doesn't hanker for the fate of a poor relation.

The Pennsy and the Lehigh Valley both finished 1960 in the red, too.

Another sign of the times was the sudden revival by the Chicago & North Western Railway and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific of merger talks broken off five years ago. Their marriage would produce a rail network of 21,325 miles in 15 states.

A rush order was put on the project by chairman of the two roads, who said savings of $40 millions a year could be achieved.

However, the plan hit a snag when North Western directors balked on a stock exchange ratio the Milwaukee approved.

Twin Approval
In 1957, the Louisville & Nashville got the green light on absorbing the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis. Two years later, two major coal carriers—the Norfolk & Western and the Virginian Railway—won merger approval.

More recently, the North Western was permitted to absorb the Minneapolis and St. Louis, and three Canadian Pacific affiliates operating in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, the Dakotas and Montana were authorized to join in an enlarged Soo Line Railroad.

More than a dozen other merger proposals are pending before the ICC or have reached advanced stages of consideration.

One of the biggest threats to involve most of the major railroads in the West in a brawl between the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific over control of the Western Pacific Railway, a strategic link on a main east-west route and in the north-south coastal traffic pattern.

Want to Unite
The Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy and the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railroads want to unite to form a 17-state system with an unrivaled 24,000 miles of track.

A major Eastern proposal nearing the showdown stage provides for joining the historic Baltimore & Ohio and the Chesapeake & Ohio. The powerful New York Central has served notice it will fight the plan unless counted in.

In the South, Southern Railway wants to buy the Central of Georgia and the Louisville & Nashville while the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard Airline are tied into still another union situation.
